Johnny,

Can you believe that this has been such a wonderful year. It won't be long until our school days at dear ol' R.I.P. are over, but who can forget all the wonderful memories that we will take with us. Best of Luck is a great guy!
Today

Johnny,

Since you are sitting there shaking your fist at me, I guess I'd better say something nice. I really have enjoyed getting to know you this year and I hope the best of luck comes to you. Good luck at D.C. and be good.

Always,
Charles

Johnny,

In a way, I wish our senior year weren't almost over. I've met so many nice people that I haven't had a chance to get to know, and you're one of them. It was really nice meeting you at Carolina - it's funny that I really didn't meet you until we were both out-of-town.

You're a wonderful boy (+ good in that horn!) and best of luck in everything that you do!

Love ya,
Jeanie

Johnny,
looks like the year is finally over.
we've had some great times in study hall didn't we. all the snow and the jokes. at the first of the year
I thought you'd never talk. I thought you were shy. HA! Be good this summer.
Good luck at C.C. next year. whatever you do, don't forget our swinging S. Hall.

Johnny,
Thanks for making this study hall worth while. Things like putting us in my weeks and trusting my ankle almost off just to take off my shoe. Really it was great knowing you. Really it was to know you.

See ya,
Janie
Janie

Johnny,
Even though you don't fully appreciate me, it's been great knowing you.
We've had a lot of fun this year. I'll never forget looking for the cape. You have a great personality, Johnny, and should have a very successful life.
That and your kindness and

Johnny,
It's been nice having you in study hall with me. I'm sorry we didn't get to know each other very well but just a smile and hello from you meant just as much.
We will miss you around here next year. I know you'll make something out of yourself and I wish you the best of luck in the future.

Remember,
understanding will take you far. May you have

Best of luck to a real sweet boy!

Johnny,

It certainly has been nice getting to know you this year. We've had some great times in band, the bus trips, Canada, and all.

I wish you the best of luck at E.C.C. and through the future. You're a most deserving boy. Hope to see you around some this summer.

Maybe the beach.

You're a great football player, keep it up! You'll be missed next year.

May God Bless you,
Love you,

"Cindy" Bryant

Johnny,

I'm glad we finally got to know each other this year. We've really had a lot of fun even in this short time. I'll never forget that wonderful (?) Sunday I stayed in you're's class. How could I ever forget. Remember laughing at each other in church and the picnic at Hanging Rock. You're one of the greatest guys I've ever known. I wish you the best of luck always, and I hope we'll always be the best of friends. Good luck in football at East Carolina. Maybe I'll see you there in two years. Please come see me this summer and whenever you're home from college, and want somebody to laugh at. I'm really going to miss you next year. Best of luck always.

Love,

Debbie

Dear Johnny,

I can't begin to express in words the happiness and fun I've had in knowing you these short five weeks. It's been wonderful. It seems as if we should be practically strangers, but I feel that I've known you forever. I feel honored and lucky at knowing and meeting such a nice and kind person as you. I hope to be seeing you this summer and will be looking forward to any time we can be together. You can be sure you'll be missed by all your friends at Reynolds, especially me! I'll be thinking of you while you're at Eastern Carolina and always, please don't forget me. I wish you the best of luck in everything.

Love,

Foreword

Time seems to be in abundance until the senior realizes that his last chance to enjoy the years of high school has come. With this thought he finds that the weeks glide away too quickly. Only a few days remain in this school year. The two semesters have been filled with many emotions, many good times, and much hard work.

We, the editors, present to you, the senior class, the 1965 Black and Gold as a memory book of your senior year. We have chosen "Through" as our theme and we hope that you will find as much meaning in the word as we have.

Through all our lives we shall remember Reynolds, where we gained knowledge from books and from other people. All phases of Reynolds life — the classes, the teachers, sports, clubs, the students — are a part of what we shall be and of what we have been. Always, we shall hold moments of these happy years in our memories and in the Black and Gold.

Black and Gold

Johnny,

It seems that only girls have signed your annual - what is this? I didn't know you were such a ladies' man!! We never seemed to get together this year - even though we tried. I enjoyed our phone conversations very much. There were many times you helped my fatterin' eye. I'll never forget your hard work last year as J.S. Thanks. Best of luck to you at E.C. I hope you're the Star! You're a sweet, kind boy. Ann Barrow

Johnny,
I've really enjoyed getting to know you this year. I'll never forget working on the p-dr. I thought you had lost your mind - hanging on the rafters by your legs!
I still have nightmares about that! I guess we've done some crazy things - that ballgame -
I'll never forget! The Canada trip and the fabulous football team are just part of this great year! You never did teach me how to water-ski!
(I'm chicken) Good luck at ECC, and don't completely forget me! Linda Gibson

Seniors Honor An Ever-Busy Man Mr. Robert Deaton

Mr. Deaton poses during a quiet moment in the office.

During the three years that Mr. Deaton has been at Reynolds High School, he has earned the respect and admiration of both students and teachers. His administrative work is enhanced by his earlier classroom teaching experience. He has remained a friendly, easy-going man despite the work that keeps him constantly busy. Not only does he keep check on the janitorial and building maintenance, but he also has charge of all the audio-visual equipment. Many people do not realize the varied tasks he performs for the good of the school. In addition to counseling students who have problems and checking eligibility for all clubs and organizations, he directs much of the disciplinary action.

His friendliness has led the students to ask him to sponsor the Senior Service Club and to chaperone the annual trip of the advanced history class to New York.

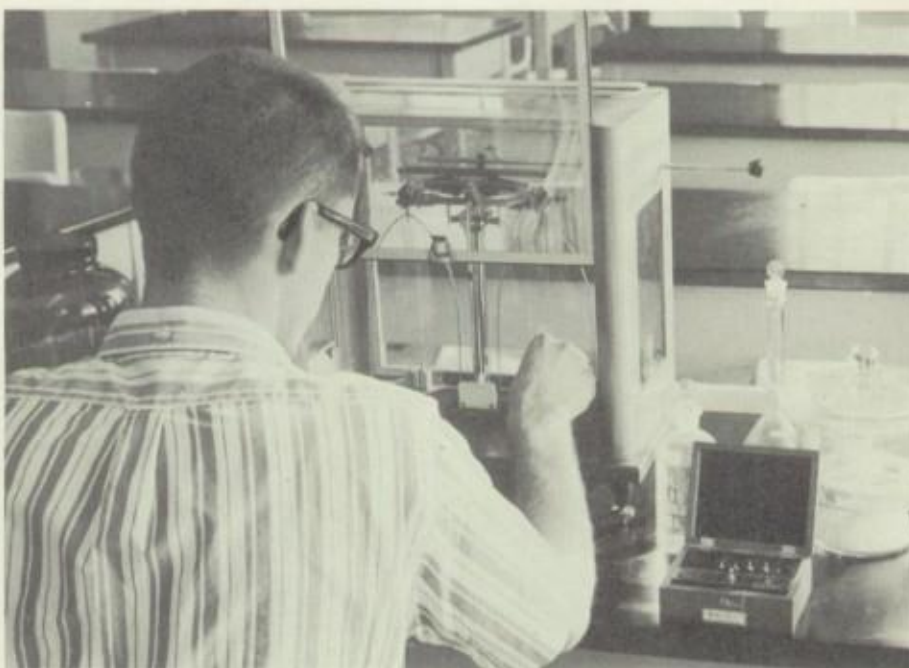

In remembrance of your many and varied services and in tribute to your friendliness and guidance, we dedicate the 1965 Black and Gold to you, Mr. Deaton.

Students find a friend and counselor in Mr. Deaton.

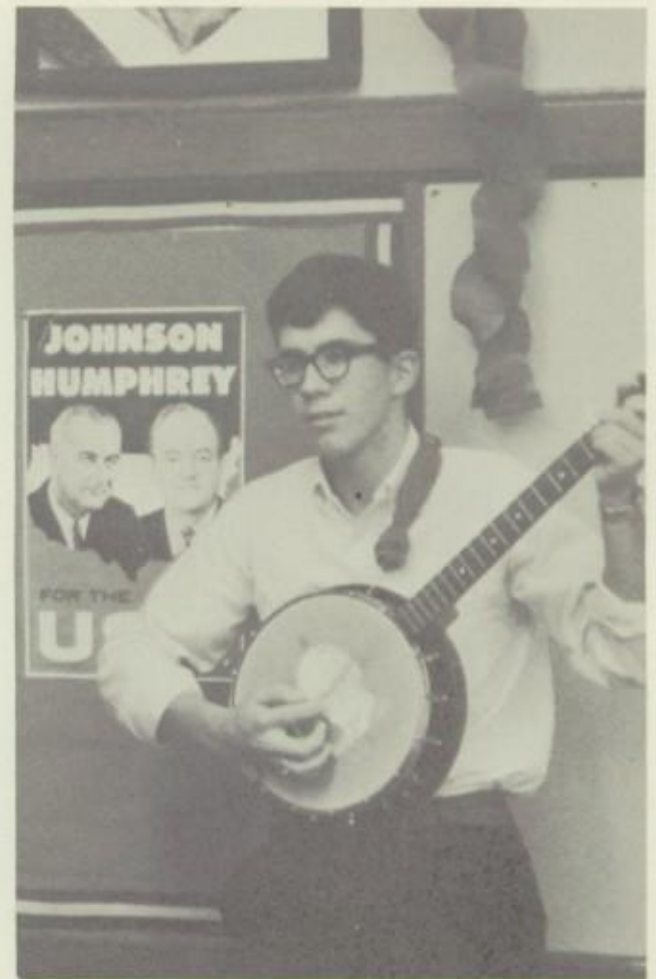

Many teachers bring various problems to his office.

From summer work and play, students and teachers came together to begin classroom work. Reynolds welcomed two foreign exchange students, Shigeyo Ito and Willy Hersberger. Band members recalled their trip to Canada. Busy sophomores, juniors, and seniors soon found themselves translating Latin, weighing compounds, or studying practical nursing.

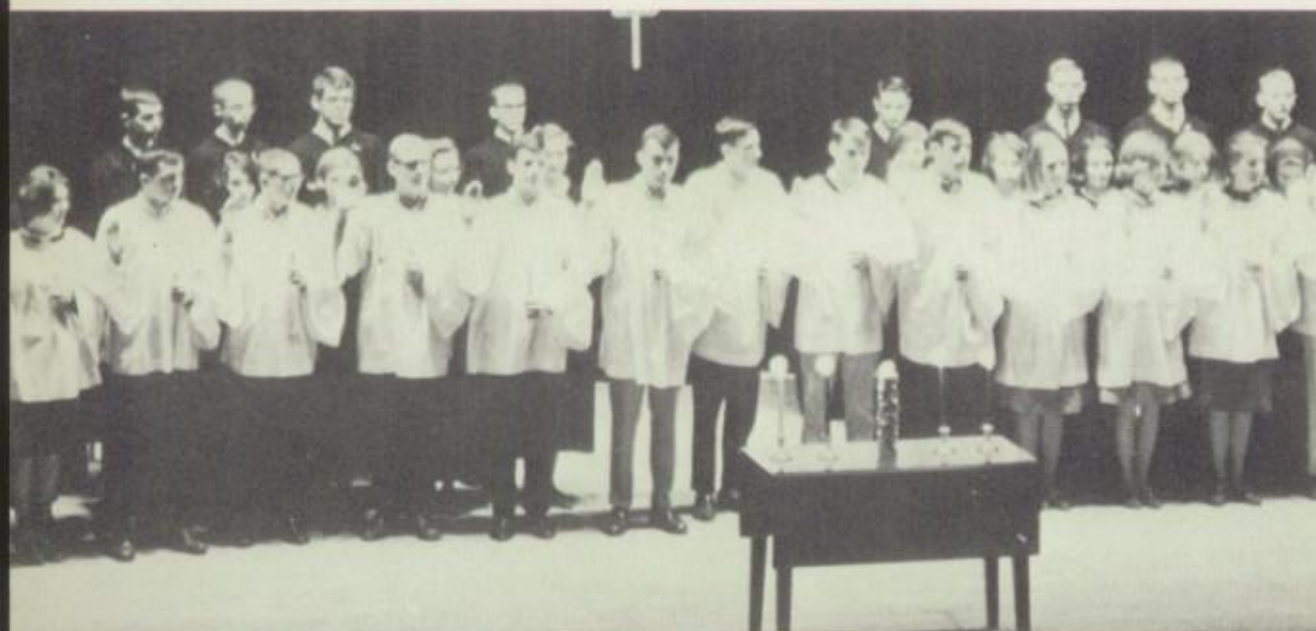

School Life Begins In Late Summer

In October the classroom work slowed down enough to let us air opinions on the presidential race. Meanwhile the boys were winning one victory after another in football. Pep rallies were spirited. With the crowning of the homecoming queen, the tension of Black and Gold Day ended and the boys chalked up another Demon win. Throughout the season the junior varsity team, supported by the J. V. cheerleaders, was also hard at work.

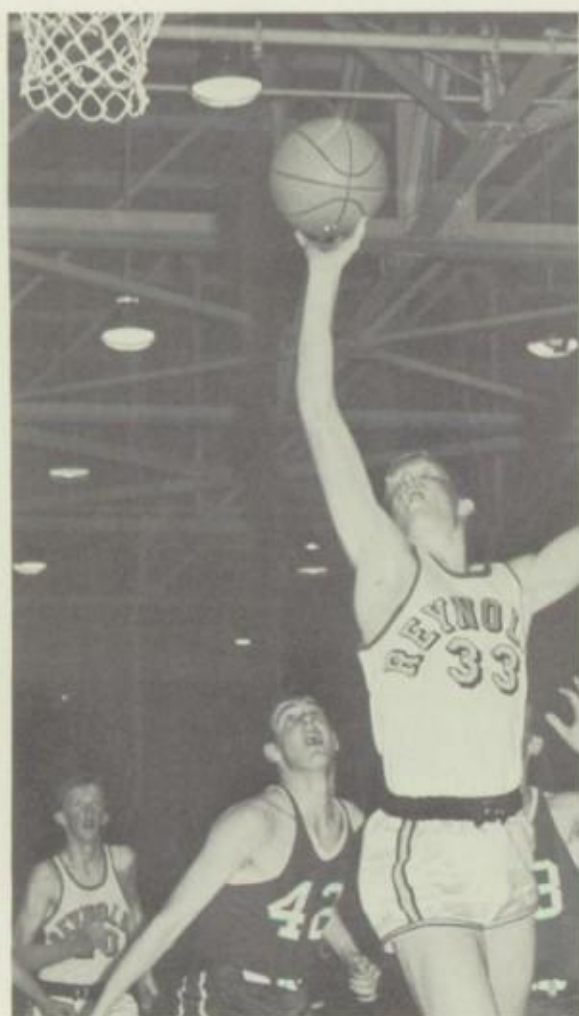

Winter Brings Exams,

As the football season closed, we traveled to pick up the 4-A Cup. Home again, as the Pine Whispers was passed out, Black and Gold staff members began working in earnest. All three classes lined up for picture-taking. As December drew near, thoughts of seniors turned to college boards and applications. Senior Executive Committee members counted ballots for superlative elections. Twenty-five more seniors learned that they would have to get out of bed earlier for the eight o'clock meetings of the National Honor Society. Students reluctantly took books home to study for exams over the Christmas holidays. Basketball season was in full swing when we returned from the much-enjoyed vacation. JV and Varsity both did their best. Snowdays gave students time for some extra study, and exams were interrupted by Bob Richards, the first speaker in the Fine Arts series. Looking ahead to warmer weather, various clubs made plans for spring.

Fine Arts Speakers

Varsity debaters began practice as classes continued into spring. The cafeteria remained a meeting place for students. Juniors made secret plans for the jr.-sr. As warm weather came, the boys began to venture out-of-doors; track and basketball boys worked in the afternoons; and friendly meetings resumed in the parking lots. . . .

Seniors once more looked forward to graduation, and once more Mrs. McDermott's anxious figure can be seen in the wings of the auditorium. As the seniors graduate, they leave behind underclassmen who rise to take their place and in the future to know the pleasure of being seniors.

Warm Weather Returns As Graduation Approaches

Mr. John Tandy, B.A., M.E. During the three years that Mr. Tandy has been principal of Reynolds High School, he has won the admiration and respect of teachers and students alike, through his kindness, understanding, and general helpfulness in all phases of school life.

Faculty Members Help Mold Reynolds Students Into Good Citizens

Mr. Robert Deaton, B.S., M.A. Signing excuses for students and checking parking permits are only a part of the duties of our busy assistant principal, Mr. Robert Deaton.

With summer sun still beckoning, students — rebellious to the thought of making vacation freedom and carefree days a memory — approach a new year at Reynolds. Seventeen hundred strong, they storm the landing, eager to renew last year's friendships but not ready for captivity.

A teacher meets the whispering, wriggling mass which is to be hers for the year. With a practiced eye she is able to distinguish individuals from the whole, to judge each person fairly as a separate entity. Slowly, as the school routine becomes a part of life once again, a student's realization that his teacher is working for him brings out willingness. Rebellion is pushed aside as an instructor aims to reach each individual, to develop each mind, to instill a love of knowledge in each soul — and the true student is grateful.

Mrs. Mae McCuen, Secretary. Aside from the usual secretarial duties—typing, filing, and answering the telephone, Mrs. McCuen has the job of keeping all attendance records.

Mrs. Mary Hart, Secretary. Mrs. Hart, in her first year at Reynolds, is in charge of the office and serves as treasurer, book-keeper, and secretary to Mr. Tandy.

Guidance Department

Miss Mary Jane Baker, B.A., M.E. Miss Baker, specializing in the guidance of sophomore students, can always find time to listen to anyone's problems.

Miss Janie Weaver, B.A. As guidance director, Miss Weaver spends her day advising students and preparing transcripts. She is called on for several out-of-town trips each year.

Librarians

Mrs. Elizabeth Sink, B.A., M.A. Combining her love of literature and her interest in young people, Mrs. Sink gladly assists students in the library.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stroupe, B.A. Helping students is one of the many activities of librarian Mrs. Stroupe who is always looking for new books to improve the library.

Fine Arts

Mr. Alvin Myerovich, B.M., M.A. Mr. Myerovich, who conducts the orchestras of several city schools, advances cultural activity through his work with the orchestra at Reynolds.

Mr. LaRue Epler, B.S., M.A. Enthusiasm and energy, plus hard work, is Mr. Epler's formula for making the Reynolds band the fine one it is.

Mr. Robert Parker, B.S. As a chorus and drama teacher, Mr. Parker's interests revolve around his students, but after-school hours are spent in golfing, boating and tennis.

English Department

Miss Hazel Stephenson, A.B., A.M. Preparing college-bound students for their English courses is one of the many duties of Miss Stephenson, who is head of the English department.

Mrs. Jo Jernigan Stroud, B.A. Infinite patience and sincere spirit add zest to Mrs. Stroud's junior English and American literature classes.

Mr. Gerald Floyd, B.A. Mr. Floyd, who is at Reynolds for the first time, teaches senior and junior English with enthusiasm. His major interest is in dramatics and creative expression.

Mrs. Evelyn Garrison, B.A., M.E. Mrs. Garrison, who is always willing to help someone, teaches Reynolds students the art of public speaking. She is also sponsor for the National Forensic League.

Miss Elizabeth Kapp, B.A. An art lover at heart, Miss Kapp devotes her time to teaching junior English and phoning absentees during second period.

Mrs. Marjorie Stephenson, B.A. Although she teaches sophomore English and frequently phones absentees for Mr. Tandy, Mrs. Stephenson finds time to collect Shakespeare items to show to her classes.

Mrs. Cecile Harriman, B.A., M.E. Leading students down the paths of Emerson and Thoreau, Mrs. Harriman teaches juniors English grammar and literature.

Miss Lucille Edwards, B.A. Miss Edwards, senior English teacher, devotes her time to preparing students for college. One of her hobbies is collecting misplaced modifiers.

Miss Jackie Faye Bullard, B.S. Having received experience during her first year at Reynolds, Miss Bullard enjoys teaching English II.

Miss Lillian Rhodes, B.A., M.E. Miss Rhodes, who teaches senior English, is always ready to offer helpful advice to her students.

Mrs. Betty Burke, Filling out transcripts and sending letters to various colleges are part of the duties of the newest member to the guidance office, Mrs. Burke.

Mr. James Anderson, B.A., M.A. R. J. R.'s Advanced Placement English teacher, Mr. Anderson, awaits his next class. In senior English, he enjoys teaching the Romantic period most of all.

Mrs. Julia Ebert, B.A. Mrs. Ebert, standing in front of the mid-term exam schedule, reminds her juniors of the importance of grammar and literature.

Mrs. Janice Owings, B.A., M.A. Helping her journalism students to meet deadlines for the newspaper and the annual and teaching sophomore English keeps Mrs. Owings busy.

Mrs. Jewell Collier, B.A. Familiarizing sophomores with Julius Caesar, Silas Marner, English grammar, and sponsoring the Red Cross Club occupies Mrs. Collier's time and energy.

Math Department

Mrs. Katherine Reich, B.A. Mrs. Reich, advanced math, algebra, and solid geometry teacher, participates in student activities as the advisor to the Student Council.

Mrs. Nancy White, B.A. Between solving equations and word problems, Mrs. White gives a lift to students who need it by giving good advice and smiles.

Mrs. Lucinda Moser, B.A. Mrs. Moser, math and algebra teacher, says she gets her exercise working in the yard and staying two jumps ahead of her advanced math classes.

Mrs. Mary Compton, B.S. In Mrs. Compton's first year at Reynolds, her business mathematics students have found that her witty personality contributes to an enjoyable class.

Mrs. Mary Ann Craft, B.A. As Advanced Math I and algebra teacher, Mrs. Craft generously gives her spare time to sponsoring the Junior class and to supervising the Junior-Senior Prom.

Mrs. Mildred Rash, B.A. Mrs. Rash, who is always ready to lend a helping hand to her algebra and geometry students, relaxes by sewing.

Mr. K. M. Peters, B.A. Mr. Peters, instructor in Algebra II and in plain geometry, devotes much of his spare time to house building and to selling Reynolds Athletic tickets.

Mr. Charles Baumgardner, B.A. After his first year here as one of the advanced math teachers, Mr. Baumgardner feels at home in the academic atmosphere of Reynolds.

Miss Linda Farrar, B.A. When she is not busy teaching algebra and geometry, or correcting tests, Miss Farrar enjoys playing bridge and skiing.

Mrs. Caroline Spencer, B.S. Teaching algebra and geometry, in addition to being in charge of the book room, keeps Mrs. Spencer busy.

Mr. Rodney Williams, B.S. Making mathematics and physics enjoyable and understandable is the goal which Mr. Williams achieves each day in his classes.

Mr. Michael Pelech, B.A. Always substituting patience for panic, Mr. Pelech has helped many students to achieve the skill of driving through driver's education.

Mr. Clark Taylor, B.S. Mr. Taylor, who teaches mechanical drawing and shop, also spreads his teaching to the J.V. football field, where he shows his coaching ability.

Mr. Jack Driver. Information becomes knowledge after it is applied. Knowledge to the tradesman is confidence in doing a good job. In his spare time Mr. Driver is taking night extension work in Greensboro.

Mr. Edwin West, B.S. While teaching distributive education, Mr. West covers the subjects of sales development and economics. He is also an avid sports fan and enjoys reading.

Mrs. Ardena Craver, B.A., B.S. Mrs. Craver, besides directing girls in their study in homemaking skills, sewing, food preparation, and interior decorating, also teaches biology.

Mrs. Margaret McDermott, B.A., M.A. When not teaching Latin II, III, or IV, Mrs. McDermott sponsors the senior class and helps them plan their activities.

Miss Mary Martin, B.A. Sponsor of the National Honor Society and a teacher of Latin I and II, Miss Martin enjoys knitting and bridge.

Mrs. Elsa Hampton, B.A. Mrs. Hampton helps her Spanish students learn the language by placing signs around her room to remind her students to speak in Spanish while in class.

Language Department

Miss Mary Jeannette Browning, A.B. Miss Browning, in her first year of teaching at Reynolds, has ably combined the subject matter of both Latin and English.

Miss Julia Summerell, B.A. High up on the fourth floor, Miss Julia Summerell teaches first and second year Spanish classes about our Latin American neighbors.

Mrs. Aileen Hepler, B.A., M.A. Supplementing the conventional means of teaching German from the textbook only, Mrs. Hepler uses folk songs to add interest and enjoyment to her classes.

Mrs. Eulalia Solomon, B.A., M.E. After a hard day of teaching French, Mrs. Solomon goes home to her family and relaxes by knitting and sewing.

Mrs. Margaret Hamrick, B.A. New to Reynolds, Mrs. Hamrick puts life into Latin through her energetic style of teaching. She also finds time to sponsor the Latin Club.

Miss Jeanette MacDonald, B.A. Having travelled in France, Miss MacDonald enjoys telling her classes about various French customs.

History Department

Mrs. Hazel Flack, B.A. Mrs. Flack uses visual aids in teaching her U.S. History classes. She also teaches a semester course in Advanced U.S. Government.

Mrs. Mary Pearce, B.A. Through lectures and class discussions, Mrs. Pearce interests her students in American and world history. Her spare time is spent in reading.

Mr. Don Kelly, B.A., M.E. After a day of teaching U.S. History, Mr. Kelly goes down to the gym to help coach the football and basketball teams.

Mrs. Martha Mitchell, B.A. Mrs. Mitchell, psychology teacher, enjoys outside interests such as gardening, golf, and duplicate bridge.

Miss Annie Graham Caldwell, B.A., B.S. Along with her various teaching duties, Miss Caldwell also finds time to sponsor the Cheerleaders and the Pep Board.

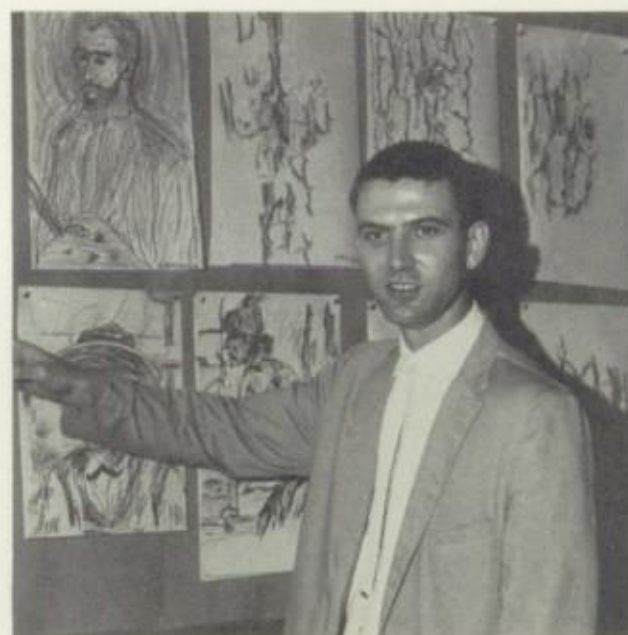

Mr. McLean Mitchell, B.S., M.A. Mr. Mitchell conducts classes in Advanced Placement World History, United States history, and arts and humanities. During the summer he teaches at the Governor's School.

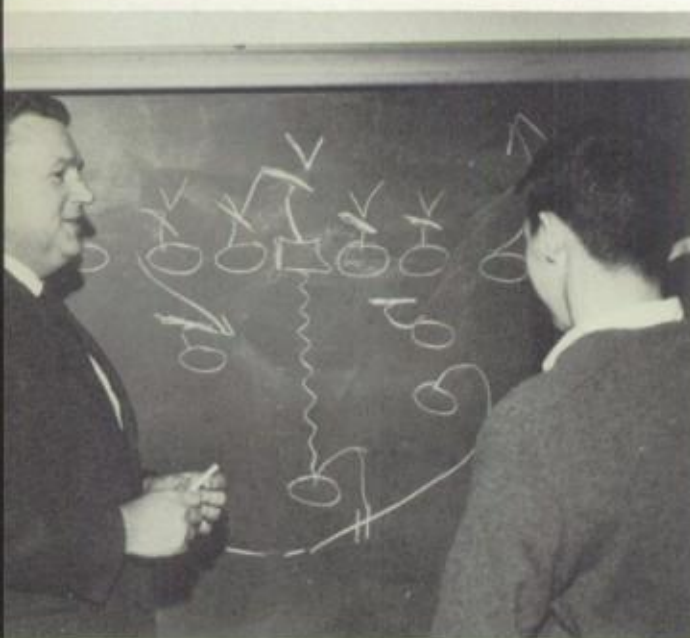

Mr. Moyer Gray Smith, B.A. Mr. Smith shows his enthusiasm for teaching on the football field, as well as in his history classes.

Art Department

Mr. James Hite, B.S. By setting up many interesting art displays, Mr. Hite has turned the lobby into an art gallery.

Mr. Shirley Wilson, B.S. Mr. Wilson, who is termed "coach" Wilson by both the varsity football team and golf team, lectures to students in psychology and history.

Miss Mataline Collette, B.A., M.E. Miss Collette, as head of the science department, teaches with enthusiasm the wonders of the atom and its compounds. She also is sponsor of the National Honor Society.

Science Department

Mr. Louie Joe Strickland, B.A. Mr. Strickland pauses before continuing his biology research. He also teaches German.

Mrs. Catherine Steelman, B.S., M.E. Identifying strange objects and drawing diagrams on the board are necessities for any biology teacher, but Mrs. Steelman always has a smile, too.

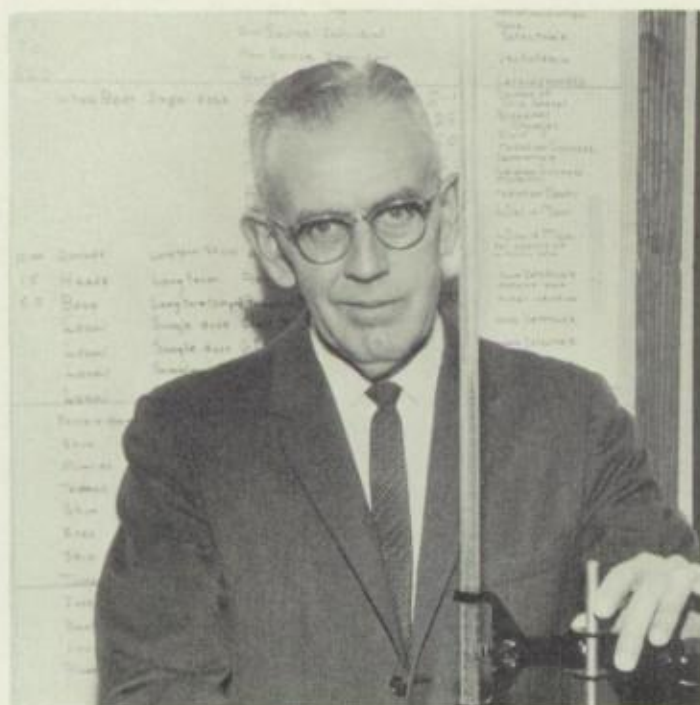

Mr. Ronald Goins, B.S. Mr. Goins, when not teaching biology to the sophomores, serves as head coach for the swimming team.

Mr. Franklin Edwards, B.S., M.A. Enjoying deep-sea fishing nearly as much as teaching chemistry and biology, Mr. Edwards is well prepared to answer any intricate question concerning science.

Mr. Harry W. Wilson, B.A. In his first year at Reynolds, Mr. Wilson is teaching advanced placement, regular, and first year chemistry.

Mr. William Webster, B.S. Besides explaining the mysteries of all forms of life to his biology students, Mr. Webster coaches the cross country and track teams.

Miss Hazel McKeel, B.A., M.E. With her strict classroom procedures, but with a friendly, outgoing personality, Miss McKeel transforms the awkward hands of students into those of skillful typists.

Mrs. Louise Still, B.A. Mrs. Still points to one of the many characters of shorthand which she teaches as part of the commercial course at Reynolds.

Mrs. Clara Fitzhugh, B.S. Preparing lessons for typing, teaching business English, and book-keeping, Mrs. Fitzhugh follows a busy schedule, yet finds time to jest with her students.

Physical Education Department

Mr. Herman Bryson, B.S., M.A. Mr. Bryson, head of the boys' athletic department and a physical education teacher, emphasizes sportsmanship over winning in his classes.

Mrs. Violet Nichols, B.S. Mrs. Nichols works to develop students mentally, socially, and physically through classes, intramural sports, and girls' varsity athletics.

Mrs. Janie Brown, B.S., M.E. By her devotion, enthusiasm, and cheerful disposition, Mrs. Brown adds interest and vitality to her girls' physical education classes.

Mr. Ray Whitley, B.A., M.E. Mr. Whitley, head coach of the basketball, tennis, and J.V. football teams, always exerts his utmost effort in coaching.

Class of 1965

September, 1964 brought studies, football games, pep rallies and a new class of seniors to R.J.R. We gained status in the eyes of the underclassmen as our senior football team won the state 4-A championship, as we gained 13 National Merit Semi-Finalists, and as we took the lead in all school activities. With more members than any other class, all seniors looked forward to a year of great academic achievement. We managed to survive SAT scores and college applications. Due to the thorough preparation given at R.J.P., most of us were accepted by the college of our choice. Christmas holidays were never such a relief. Seniors, understanding what was meant by Senior English, welcomed the short vacation. After Christmas came exams and we bravely took the tests, determined to do the best we had ever done. Though longing for spring and graduation activities, we struggled to maintain our academic averages through January, February, and March. Spring did come and we laughed to watch the agony of the juniors as they tried to choose a theme for the Junior-Senior Prom. Although spring brought the promise of the welcomed end to the school year, it also brought Class Day, the senior picnic, and, of course, graduation. For us, graduation signifies not only the ending to a way of life, but also the challenge of something new and different. While we will always regard our years at Reynolds as "special," we are looking forward to many changes. We hope that all other senior classes to follow us will gain as much from their Reynolds experience as we have.

Late in her junior year Judy Dobbs was selected DAR Good Citizen by teachers and her fellow students. DAR girls are chosen for leadership, scholarship, and citizenship. During the summer Frank Murphy represented Reynolds at Boys' State. When she attended Girls' State, Beth Brownlee was one of two girls from North Carolina elected to attend Girls' Nation. Competing with boys from this area, Bob Sheppard received a nomination for Morehead Scholarship. Tom English, an outstanding football player, was named to the All-America team. Journalism students chose Ann Groce as Journalism Student of the Year for her work on the publications staff.

MOREHEAD NOMINATION

Reynolds had 13 National Merit semi- finalists: Cara Snyder, Amanda McBride, Lynn McLeod, Betty Benton, Jimmy Rodden, Ronnie Sprinkle, Dickie Blackwell, Tom Lauerman, Bob Sheppard, Silas Wild, Randy Phillips, Steve Johnson, and Jon Julian. All honor page students are representative of an attitude encouraged at Reynolds: whether playing or working, one must do his best.

From a list of many students here at Reynolds, the seniors chose twenty to represent their class as superlatives.

Added to the nine categories from previous years was a tenth one, "Most Talented." This was suggested by the Senior Executive Committee, which is invaluable when the time comes to tally the ballot sheets.

It is easy enough to mark a ballot with a "X", but it is really a job to count approximately 600 of them.

Class of 1966

With mixed emotions we approach the end of our junior year at Reynolds, knowing that many experiences will never be shared again.

Looking back, we recall the good times from our treasury of memories—pep rallies in the fall in a newly renovated auditorium; that glorious Friday night in Durham when we won the State 4A Championship, and the feeling of pride as we chanted "We're number one!" the deep satisfaction we felt at the Christmas chapel when our fellow students performed so well; and finally, the junior-senior, to climax our year.

As juniors we were more active in everything from football, basketball, chess, dramatics, and cheerleading to service organizations and art. Car keys, class rings, and American history books became the status symbols of our group. Surer of ourselves, we expressed our confidence and individuality through new ideas and fads. Yet underneath all this was a current of restlessness as we each faced the profound questions of "Who am I?" and "Where am I going?" and struggled to answer them truthfully in our hearts.

We have grown and matured; and our classmates' faces are a little older and wiser than they were last fall. Next year when we advance to even greater decisions and responsibilities, we shall not forget our junior year at RJR.

Students quickly stack books, and look for a late friend, just before entering the cafeteria.

Senior Marshals Serve At Graduation And Class Picnic

Ten junior girls, together with two alternates, are chosen each year by the senior class to help with graduation exercises in the spring.

Giving out the programs to parents, friends, and relatives, and ushering them to their seats, are the main duties of these girls during the graduation program. In addition to this, the chief marshal leads the seniors on the stage, and the assistant chief follows them off the stage after the last diploma has been given. While assisting in this last program for seniors, each girl wears a long dress.

These elected juniors are also helpful at class day, which the entire school attends. Each girl is posted at a certain place, making sure each student receives a program, telling of the class day events.

Along with the work they do, the senior marshals also receive a reward, as they are all invited to the class picnic at the end of the school year.

To juniors and seniors, Reynolds High School appears familiar and friendly. To the sophomores who approached the auditorium last September, it represented the doorway to a challenging yet frightening new life.

Life at Reynolds was strange at first. New teachers, schedules, and procedures struck panic into the hearts of bewildered sophomores. They pondered many questions during those first insecure days.

How to participate in the activities they wanted to, and still keep up their grades, puzzled many sophomores. Many clubs sounded interesting — Latin, Dramatics, Art, Math. Some students were already practicing with the band. Representatives to the House and Pep Board members were elected.

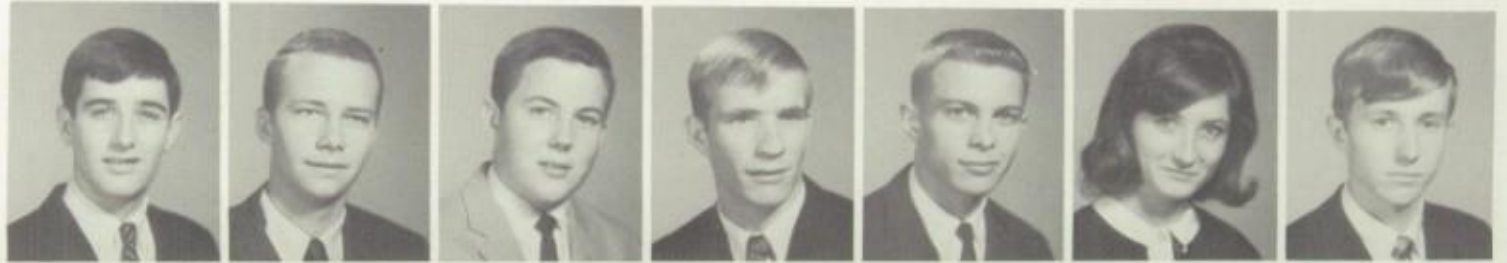

Football season brought new experiences, too. The first pep rally caused excitement, as the sophomores tried to out-yell the upperclassmen. After the championship game in Durham, they were proud of their school and their team.

Settling down to serious assignments, sophomores faced battles with Silas Marner and Julius Caesar. Hard to forget are the days in biology, leaning over a crayfish with dissecting tools in hand. Fright that accompanied the first exams dissipated after the initial shock. The National Honor Society induction gave hope of recognition for high scholastic achievement and provided a goal to strive for.

As this year ends, sophomores look back and laugh at the trials of their first year at Reynolds. They look forward with confidence to their junior year, with more studies and more activities, when they write another chapter of their life at RJR.

Our Honor System Is Upheld

Nominated and elected by the student body of Reynolds High School, members of the Student Council are representative of the honor system here.

To uphold the standards of the Honor Code and to set a good example for the entire student population is the job of the Student Council member. He is also responsible for trying a person who has been charged with a violation of the honor policy, and for imposing punishment upon him.

At the beginning of the school term, the Student Council presented a series of humorous cartoons depicting violators of the Code of Honor. These were quite effective, and instrumental in reducing violations.

Distribution of handbooks to sophomores and new students at Reynolds is another Student Council project.

Naming a citizen of the week has been one of the duties of the Council members. From these good citizens a student of the year was selected.

To encourage cooperation among Reynolds students and to improve the welfare of the school are two main objectives of this serious group.

The Views Of Each Homeroom

Through the House of Representatives and the House Court, students put into practice a belief on which the Honor System and, in turn, the Student Government Association is based—that high school students should be able to assume serious responsibilities for their own conduct and for the conduct of others.

The voice of the student body is projected in the House. Representatives elected by each homeroom present House decisions to their classmates, and each student as an informed part of his Student Cooperative Government shares the responsibility for its success.

To insure this success the House enforces the Honor Code through the House Court, a body with representatives from each class and officers of the House serving as members. An individual accused of uncooperative, inconsiderate conduct is summoned to court and is tried by his peers. Their decision is the final verdict—another instance in which students take a major part in constructively organizing their own pattern of school life.

National Honor Society Inspires Higher Goals

Backstage, parents beam approval of the new inductees.

As a member of a national organization, the Brevard Hoover Chapter of the National Honor Society strives to recognize and to encourage outstanding character, scholarship, leadership, and service in the student body of Reynolds.

Serving as guides on the first day of school and on College Day, sponsoring Faculty Appreciation Day, and helping with the PTA Open House keep the members at Reynolds busy throughout the year.

Co-sponsored by Miss Mataline Collette and Miss Mary Martin, the club meets every other Friday at 8:00.

First Row: J. Bahnson, P. Binkley, S. Michael, J. Holland, J. Reid. Second Row: R. Brantley, B. Tillotson, R. Goldberg, L. Cole, J. Rawlings.

French students who excel in this Romance language and in classroom work are recognized by acceptance in the French National Society during inductions in the spring. Members must work hard to maintain an honor average in all subjects. They must also contribute time and service to the French Department through extracurricular activities as individuals or in groups. Approximately ten per cent of those who take French are elected.

Honor Journalists Are Inducted Into Quill And Scroll

Because of her excellent contributions in the first-year journalism class, Shigeyo Ito was also elected a member.

Standing: N. Licker, S. Pappas, S. Price, B. Hinkle, M. Whicker, A. Bullens. Sitting: V. Niblock, A. Groce, A. Justice, B. Briggs.

Sponsored by Mrs. Janice Owings, the Reynolds High School chapter of the Quill and Scroll honors the school's outstanding journalism students. To be eligible for membership, the journalists must have an honor average, and must have contributed to the Pine Whispers and the Black and Gold.

An international honor society for high school journalists, the Quill and Scroll has an international roll on which the names of members are listed. Each new member has his name added after the yearly inductions. Members also receive a pin, the Quill and Scroll Magazine, and are eligible to enter contests sponsored by the Quill and Scroll.

Outstanding Students Compose Masque And Gavel

Students in the Masque and Gavel have earned the right to call themselves members. All have participated and excelled in some form of public speaking or in the dramatics field. Their activities range from oral interpretation of literature in the spring, the World Peace Speech Contest, varsity and junior varsity debating, and the Speech Festival at Wake Forest, to acting in the Little Theater, regional contests in drama, and three school plays.

As an honor society, one of the main requirements of the Masque and Gavel is an honor average. New members are inducted every spring after an eventful year.

Sitting: J. Maddocks, A. Stansfield, R. Brantley, B. Crutchfield, R. Meschan, M. Andrus, D. Wommack, T. Byrd, C. Snyder. Standing: J. Anglin, B. Miller, M. B. Blackwell, J. Dobbs, M. Rouzie, T. Foster, B. Reavis, R. Goldberg, B. Benton, A. Isaacs.

National Forensic League Members Excel In Debate

Why are members of the National Forensic League just a little proud? Perhaps they know the reward of hard work and jobs well done. These students are outstanding debaters and public speakers who have distinguished themselves at Reynolds by their speaking ability.

Eligible students receive points for each debate or public engagement. A total of twenty-five points is required for membership in the National Forensic League. Activities of the members include N.F.L. conferences and regional debates.

Membership in the Debating Club is held by students who participate in try-outs for the varsity and junior varsity debating teams. This year the club membership is larger than it has ever been before. Participation in National Forensic League tournaments and the Wake Forest Speech Festival comes from the debating club. The varsity team practices continually in order to prepare for various debate contests and the annual chapel debate. Interest in debating is steadily increasing in the school and this club is expecting a very bright future.

Devoted to spreading interest in the field of drama is the Dramatics Club. Sponsored by Mr. Parker, this organization is composed of students interested in the various phases of drama, such as acting, directing, and staging. The Dramatics Club is planning for this year many worthwhile projects including drives for costumes and drives to arouse interest in dramatics. This club is looking forward to an increase in membership, interest, and activities.

Black And Gold Staff Edits Annual

As the August sun beamed upon vacationing Reynolds' students, few of them considered the return to school. That did not hold true for the journalism students who had already started planning the next year's annual. During the August meetings co-editors Ann Groce and Pat Petree checked with the sponsor on pictures that should be taken and script that should be written in the coming year.

School started and so did the work. Layouts had to be drawn; schedules had to be made; and pictures, put in order. In general, confusion was the order of the day. Things progressed at a rapid pace and anyone walking past the journalism room could easily wonder if everyone had lost his mind as shouts of, "We've lost the swimming team," and "Who typed the chorus script," echoed through the air.

Saturday and days school was closed for snow found dedicated journalism students working hard to produce an original annual.

Everything was worth the effort when the 1965 Black and Gold returned to room 125 for its final inspection before being delivered to the student body.

Pine Whispers Staff Produces Paper

Keeping Reynolds students informed and interested in school affairs is the job of the Pine Whispers staff. Published four times during the year, the Pine Whispers offers sophomores, juniors, and seniors a variety of subjects from front-page news, through objective editorials and light features, to an active sports page.

Although the second year class is largely responsible for editing the paper, first-year students, as they study journalism, occasionally write articles. Organization of the paper begins during the staff meetings. The co-editors receive ideas for articles, make the layouts, and assign the writing of these articles to various reporters. As the articles come in to the co-editors, they are typed and sent to the publisher who sends back a proof of each page. After constant proof-reading and occasional correcting, the paper returns to the publishers for printing. When the Pine Whispers returns, it is distributed among the students.

School And Community Profit From Key

Jerri Strug, Key Club Sweetheart, reigns at the Follies.

Projects by the Key Club began early this year with the restoration of the teachers' parking lot, the sanding of damaged desk tops, and the carrying of books to the class rooms in August. As the year continued, Key Clubbers maintained the court, painted the tunnel, sponsored the football homecoming exhibits, and the basketball Homecoming dance. Pennants were given to the cheerleaders and majorettes, and refreshments were given to the cheerleaders at football games. A generous donation was collected for the March of Dimes. Through the Foster Parents Plan, the members adopted a boy from Viet Nam. The club helped finance its projects by selling school license plates in January. The Key Club highlighted its year by taking a capacity crowd from Frontierland to Tomorrowland in the Key Club Follies entitled "Yesterday and Tomorrow." Mr. McLean Mitchell, sponsor, furnished much sound advice throughout the year.

Senior Service Club Projects Improve School Life,

This year's Senior Service Club is no exception to its long tradition of school spirit and service for R. J. Reynolds High School.

Early last summer the club members began their work by marking off spaces in both of the students' parking lots. This work has eliminated much of the congestion that formerly occurred there.

Such tasks as carrying books at the beginning of school and cleaning the walks of ice and snow were also undertaken by the club. The pool in the Senior Service Club court was repainted at the start of the year. The annual Christmas tea for the faculty was again enjoyed by all who attended.

For all the football games the Senior Service Club had beat-em tags and the big "Demon" to boost school spirit. The members also sold buttons, pennants, and ribbons for the ball games.

Boots' Routines Brighten

"Get those kicks above waist-high and point those toes!" rang out from the amphitheatre early in the summer as the Dancing Boots practiced hard and long for the coming football season. Many weeks were spent practicing the intricate routines choreographed by Assistant Chief, Adele Isaacs, and led by Chief, Barbara Conrad.

Long hours, such as these, spent rehearsing have proved rewarding in past years with various trips to Atlanta, Georgia; Washington, D. C., and in 1964 to Toronto, Canada, where the Band and the Boots came in sixth in the International Lion's Club Convention.

Perfection and precision have been the calling card of the Boots for many years and this year was no exception. Not only have their outstanding performances attracted students, parents, and interested people from all over the state, but they have also won for the Boots a permanent place in the traditions of Reynolds High School.

Majors' Sparkling "Shine For Dear

Senior majorettes P. Binkley, A. Barrow, M. A. Mann, J. Bahnson, S. Scott, E. Lide, and A. Justice pose.

Twirling and dancing, at football games and in parades, the majorettes add sparkle and color to band performances. These girls are chosen each year by competition. Required for trying out is one year as a Dancing Boot. To be selected as a majorette, a girl must show ability in dancing, twirling, and marching. Candidates must also demonstrate poise and charm in their performance. This year there are four junior and nine senior majorettes marching with the band. During the summer these girls work on their dance and twirling routines. When school starts, they practice each day after school for approximately two hours. Through the year the girls perform at such school events as football games, pep rallies, and at the basketball homecoming. By invitation, the R.J.R. majorettes perform at parades and other celebrations. Throughout the year the civic community and R. J. Reynolds High School enjoy the performances of these energetic twirlers.

Cheerleaders Support Teams Throughout Fall And Winter

August the fifteenth, Demon Hill comes to life with "Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar, all for Reynolds, stand up and holler!" Then begin all the activities that cause sore muscles, tired arms, and hoarse voices.

From August to March, pep and cheer radiate from these girls, donned in traditional black and gold uniforms, as they urge the Reynolds student body to support their teams.

"Go ye Black Demons," played by the band at each pep rally, signals the cheerleaders to dance onto the stage so that they may lead cheers, chants, and the Alma Mater.

At the football games, regardless of weather, the cheers rang loud and clear across the stadium field to boost the team to victory. When winter approached, the cheerleaders flocked to the gym for basketball cheers such as "Go! Go! Go! Reynolds students want two!" They still displayed the vitality and pep traditional of Reynolds cheerleaders. These ten girls, helping to plan ways and means of promoting school spirit, are also members of the Pep Board.

Since all things must come to an end, the seniors train the candidates for the coming year's squad and say farewell to a year of hard work, wonderful memories, and rewarding service.

Pep Board Always Works Hard To

Council members Cynthia Staley, Joanne Senkus, Jerri Strug, Saran Chipman, Elizabeth Lide, and Kit Benton search for ideas for "spectaculars" and bulletin boards.

Under the leadership of co-chairmen Vicki Disher and Betsy Perry, the Pep Board strives to promote school spirit during major sport activities. Working with them is a council composed of four senior girls, a cheerleader, and a majorette. Two representatives chosen from each homeroom put up bulletin boards and make beat'em tags every week.

Every Thursday afternoon one can see some of these girls putting up a spectacular or adding finishing touches to the bulletin boards in Victory Hall. They feel that by doing these things, the boys are more aware that the student body is behind them.

Twice a year the co-chairmen are in charge of planning the Homecoming chapels. They sponsor contests for the best bulletin boards and beat'em tags, and award cash prizes.

Miss Caldwell, sponsor of the organization, offers much advice during the year. She helps with any problems which arise.

Teenage Council Plans Dances, Aids Recreation Department

Council members aid the City Recreation Department by such activities as wrapping treats for Halloween.

Elected by the student body, the Teenage Council is a group of 13 students. New members are elected at the beginning of the year, and the officers are elected in the spring of the year from old junior and sophomore members.

Sponsored by the City Recreation Department, this organization schedules activities for the students and helps in the work of the Department. In the fall an open house was held for parents, teachers, and students after the Homecoming game. The members also held a dance at the armory, featuring the Gore Combo, the day Christmas vacation began. In the spring the annual twirp dance was held with the crowning of a twirp king and queen. The members also helped hide Easter eggs for the annual hunts sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

The year is full of both hard work and fun for the members of this organization as they serve both their school and their city.

Senior And Junior Hi-Y's Serve School And Community

Senior Hi-Y is a Christian organization sponsored by the local Y.M.C.A. In addition to the fellowship enjoyed, the members try to channel their energy towards the betterment of the school and community.

Some of the projects the Senior Hi-Y has done at school are cleaning up the school grounds, helping shovel snow off the walks, as well as many others. They are now trying to get a walk paved in a badly needed place. They plan to do this work during vacation time.

Senior Hi-Y has done several projects to aid the community, the main ones being to help the Cancer Society and also the Easter Seals Campaign with their drives for funds.

The officers are Steve McCormick, president; Stuart French, vice-president; Bill Vann, secretary-treasurer; Charles Norfleet, chaplain.

Omega Chi Hi-Y consists of junior boys who are also interested in service and fun. Their projects include donating an American and state flag to the school, collecting for the March of Dimes, and sponsoring a Christmas dance at the Community Center.

Y-Teens Serve School And Community With Various Projects

Senior co-presidents Melissa Daves and Donna Eubanks discuss plans for Christmas Dance.

Who are the Y-Teens at Reynolds? Fun-loving girls who are interested in good citizenship and in the community. The fellowship, fun, and service offered by this organization calls for varied activities throughout the year.

Always aware of others' needs, one group personally visited and helped five poverty-stricken families, while another group sponsored an overseas orphan. Reynolds Y-Teens joined girls from all over the city last November to worship together at First Presbyterian Church on Y-Teen Recognition Sunday. Tupperware sales, car washes, and bake sales boosted the club treasuries. Christmas time found members bursting with Yuletide spirit in plans for their annual dance, a semi-formal held at the YWCA gym.

With swimming, recreational sports, and good programs and speakers to complete their schedule, Y-Teens agree that they have had a successful year.

Serviteers Offers An Opportunity For Constructive Work

Junior girls find an opportunity to use their abilities and imaginations through participation in Serviteers. Their main objective is to serve the school in any way they can.

Often working inconspicuously and out of the spotlight, the Serviteers are active in everything from serving at various banquets to decorating for the Junior-Senior Prom.

In the early spring, the Serviteers get down to work, planning decorations for the Junior-Senior. They work unselfishly and energetically to make each year's prom the best yet. After their long, hard work, they create a finished product that is a credit to their club and their school.

Serviteers are noted for their willingness to take care of any details, odds, and ends that arise during the school year. As it was characterized by one member, they do "things nobody else will do."

Real dedication and loyalty to Reynolds make the Serviteers, sponsored by Miss Farrar, a vital and interesting part of life at RJR.

Sophomore Girls Begin Service To Reynolds As Sophoteers

Sophoteers offers an excellent opportunity for sophomore girls to be of service to both teachers and students at Reynolds.

Numbering more than one hundred, the Sophoteers voluntarily assist teachers after school in any capacity that they are called on to fill, such as washing boards or straightening rooms.

Each year the Sophoteers sponsor a Big Sister clothing drive to distribute clothing to girls less fortunate than they.

Sponsored by Mrs. Stephenson, the girls meet regularly to discuss how they can serve their school and make their years at Reynolds more meaningful.

During the busy fall season the Reynolds Marching Band participated in the half-time performances at fourteen football games, including the Piedmont Bowl Game and the Wake Forest College Band Day. They also performed in many parades throughout the year.

Once again, a Wind Ensemble was organized with members being chosen because of general ability and musical aptitude. This select group of 65 members played several concerts during the last half of the school year. For the first time in the past several years, the Wind Ensemble attended the North Carolina Band Contests held in Greensboro, N. C. Good musicianship was accented and many long hours were spent in preparation for the contest.

Band members present half-time performances at football games.

Orchestra's "Danse Macabre" Presented

Rebops

During the last few years the stage band has taken on a new importance, not merely for entertainment, but also from a musical education point of view. The group stresses the importance of reading music, intricate rhythms, and a good sound.

Members of the Rebops are chosen from an audition. The group practices weekly. The Rebops were called upon several times during the past year to provide entertainment and dance music for both in-school and out-of-school functions. These included chapel programs, the Key Club Follies, and the annual Faculty Wives' party.

On Radio Program

With the presentation of the special Halloween program and participation in the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, the orchestra became an active musical organization at Reynolds. Members feel that they are achieving their objective of serving participating students and the school.

Alvin Myerovich, orchestra leader, came to Winston-Salem from Youngstown, Ohio, where he was Head of String Department at Youngstown University. His past accomplishments include concertmaster of the Youngstown University Orchestra and Lawrence County Symphony in New Castle, Pennsylvania, and staff member of the Alleghany Music Camp.

Both Mr. Myerovich and orchestra members have made plans for next year. They hope to play for concerts at Chapel programs and combined presentations with the band and chorus.

Rehearsals Help Chorus Reach Aims Of Harmony And Clarity

Dressed in black and gold robes, the mixed chorus has shown its ability to add variety to their performances as they present both serious and humorous selections.

Under the direction of Mr. Parker, classes helped prepare the students for many performances. Not only have they performed for the school at Christmas and Easter and given a spring concert, but they have also represented their school in programs for the Ardmore Community Club, Chamber of Commerce, and for the cafeteria staff.

In addition to entertaining at regular intervals they have offered for criticism their programs in the Choral Workshop, the High Point Contest, and the Choral Festival.

Clearness and harmony have been the aims and achievements of the chorus throughout the year as they presented both light and serious compositions.

Chorus members pay attention to instructions which will produce a more polished performance.

Mr. Parker directs chorus toward the proper technique of harmony.

To all students striving to learn the French language, an exciting solution is participating in the French Club held in various classes. Generally, the club meets once a month with the students participating in the interesting programs. On certain holidays, one may hear the harmonious voices of classes chanting the songs of the "Singing Nun" or numerous other French songs, in French, of course. In addition to singing, colorful slides are shown of the beautiful French native land and important landmarks. On some occasions, a speaker may come and share valuable information concerning the language. The more a French student learns, the more he enjoys this language.

At Regular Club Meetings

A knowledge of culture serves as a background in foreign language study, and through regular German club meeting students gain with this knowledge a better perspective of their course.

Student-planned, organized, and presented, the programs range in substance from Christmas parties to film tours of castles and countryside. Guest speakers bring the character and way of life of the German people into the classroom. Their talks answer questions in which students are interested and draw students closer to the significance of the German language and the people who speak it.

Conducted every other week in each class, the club meetings help strengthen the language course by giving students a foundation of understanding on which to build their study.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Elsa Hampton, sponsor of the Spanish Club, Spanish students learn about the customs and the ordinary life in Spain and Latin America.

Not only is Spanish Club a time for learning, but it also is a time for putting into practice a working knowledge of Spanish things.

Speakers from Bucaramanga, Columbia have attended a session of the "Club de Espanol." Students asked them searching questions regarding life in South America. From their answers, pupils were able to gain some insight into everyday life in Columbia.

Included at other meetings were Christmas carols sung in Spanish, and a young man playing "Spanish guitar."

No club is a club without rockin' parties, and the Spanish Club is no exception. Of course, their "fiestas" have a distinct Spanish flavor.

Students With A Common Interest In Chess Form A New Club

Originating in the Far East somewhere in, or around India, chess was first played as a serious counterpart for combat, but today chess is played for mental training at the player's leisure. Around thirty members actively participated in the Chess Club at Reynolds this year. Matches were set up among Reynolds and several other schools, including Grimsley and Durham High.

Chess Clubbers met after school every Friday afternoon in Mr. Williams' room, 214, to test their skill at this game of wits.

Bible Club Members Win Quizzes At Youth For Christ Rallies

Evangelism, leadership, and fellowship are the objectives of the Bible Club at Reynolds. As a nondenominational group, sponsored by Winston-Salem Youth For Christ, it contains members of many different churches. By means of speakers, films, and discussions, the members tell other students of their faith in Christ and get pointers on improving their Christian life.

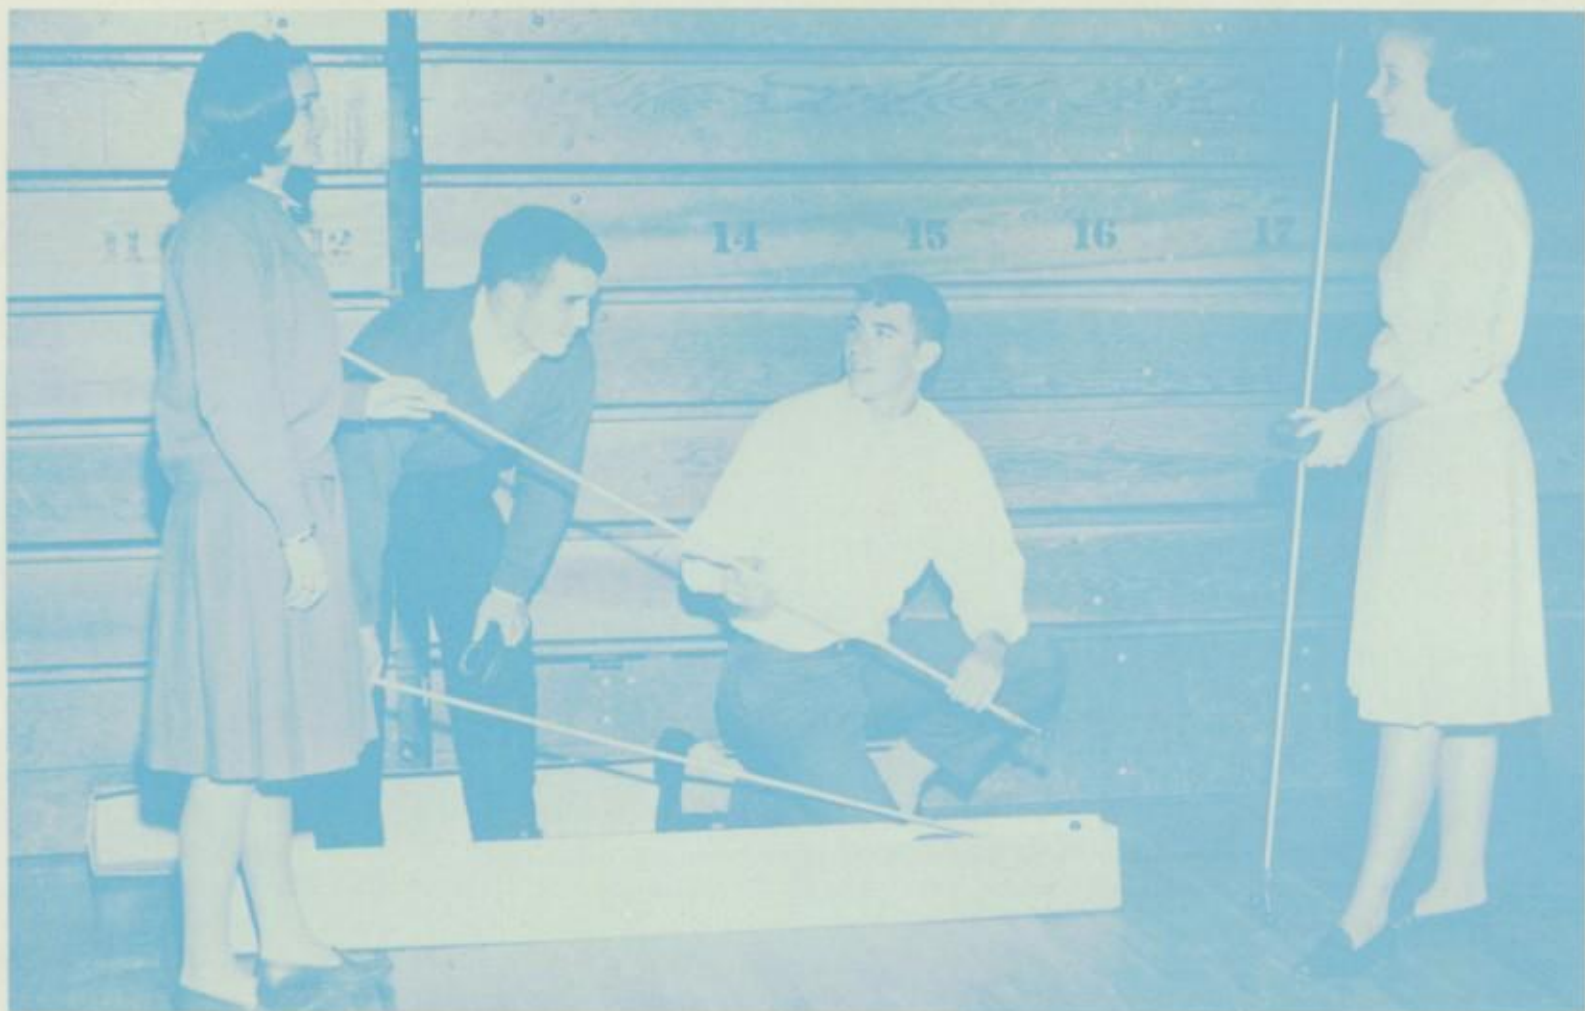

Active participation is part of the club program. By taking part, members learn to speak before an audience. The quiz team studies portions of the Bible and participates in quizzes at the Youth For Christ rallies on Saturday nights. Conventions, contests, and rallies provide activities during the entire year.

Demons

When the 1964 football season rolled around, there were few doubts concerning the Demons' ability to reach the state finals for the third time in as many years. Led by returning lettermen Frank Murphy, Jim Waller, Tom English, Terry Gentle, and Bobby Russell, plus a host of others, the 4-A championship looked like a sure bet.

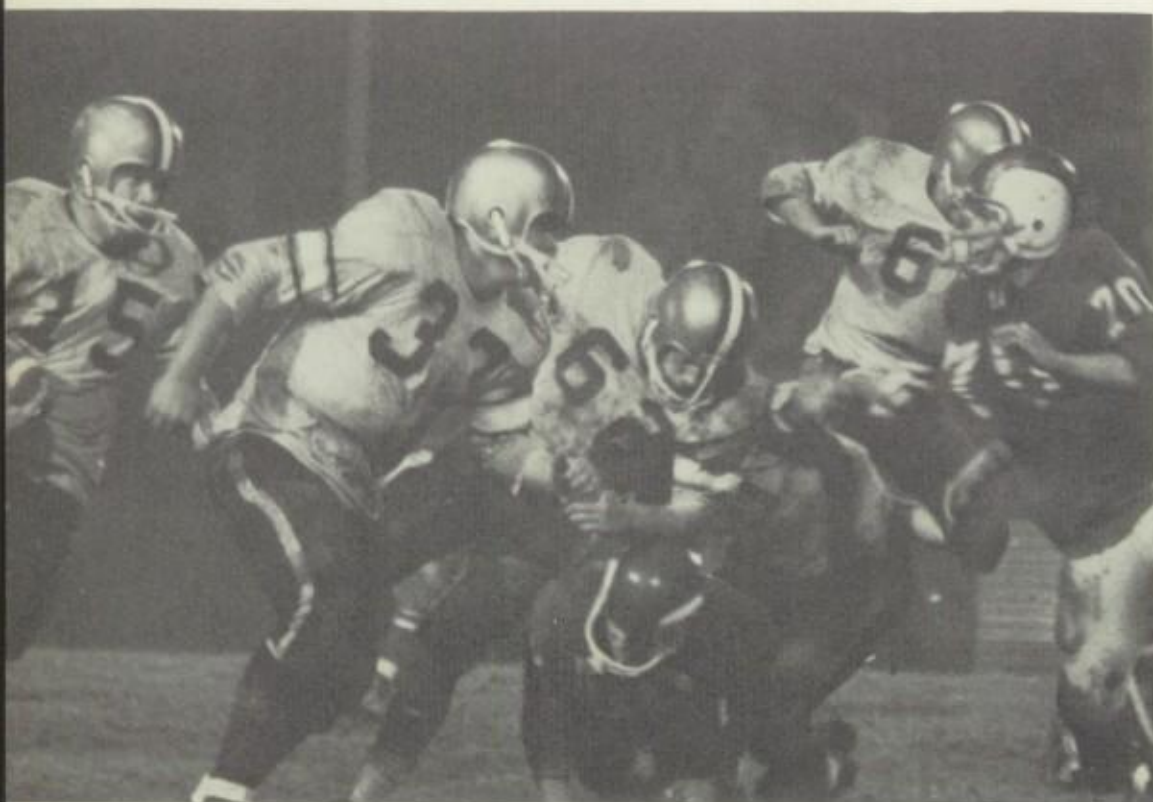

As the hot summer practices turned into fall scrimmages, estimates were taken on how badly we would swamp our opening foe Lexington. After the dust had settled and the last cheer had died away, the enemy had surprised us, 25-6. However, the game was avenged the following week with a solid victory over Greensboro Page.

Next to fall was Gray, who met with disaster in our first home game of the season at Bowman Gray Stadium. With a record of two victories, one loss, the mighty Demons could not be stopped. Excitement reached fever pitch as the team smashed High Point, Salisbury, and Burlington in successive weeks. North, West, and East Forsyth then crumbled under the Demons' onslaught. At last, in Greensboro, Grimsley withered and the conference title belonged to us!

In the semifinals, the Black Birds of Rocky Mount bowed 14-6, and only Durham stood in the way to the state championship. Over 10,000 fans pushed their way into Durham County Stadium for the title game that cold night of November 27, and most of them screamed themselves delirious when the Black Demons marched off the field with a 14-6 victory and the state championship!

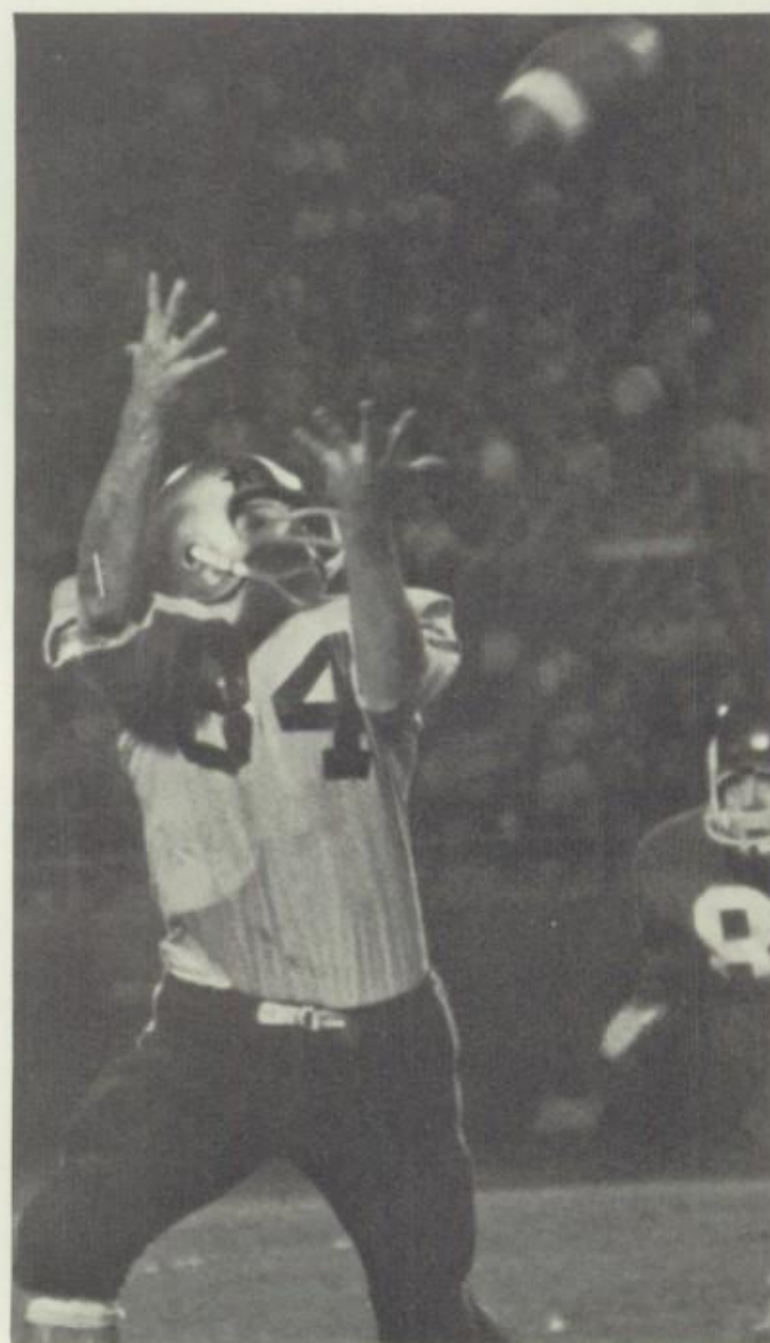

Before every opening kick-off the Demons huddle on the field for the Lord's Prayer.

RJR hopes soar as Tom English rips for yardage behind the blocking of Rick Pennell and Mike Dowell in the championship game.

End Jim Waller snares an English aerial "bomb" for Reynolds' first touchdown against Durham.

Time runs out for Durham as the scoreboard sends forth the good news.

Key blocking by our linemen in the Gray game enabled the Demons to run up a big score.

Linemen Helped Grind The Way To The 4-A Championship

Without the blocking of an outstanding line, a star backfield is helpless. This year the Demons had an abundance of talent in the line and each player did a fine job at his position.

Early in the season it became apparent that opposing teams were going to have trouble trying to run over or around defensive aces Mike Dowell, Mark Morgan, Blake Goslen, Steve Vasgaard, Bobby Russell, and Terry Gentle.

Performances by our offensive line seemed to improve more each game. Thanks to key blocking by Harold Smith, Russell, Dowell, Gentle, Morgan, Ralph Grubbs, and Jim Waller, our offense racked up a total of 236 points during the season.

Bobby Russell and Jimmy Waller represented Reynolds in the Shrine Bowl.

Fullback Rick Pennell follows blocking for a short gain in N. Forsyth game.

Backfield Makes A Shambles Out Of Every Opponent's Defense

Everyone knows that having a great backfield combination aids tremendously in the success of a football team. Reynolds had that combination this year in the form of speedy running, brute power, and long, go-for-broke aerial bombs.

Throughout the season wingback Frank Murphy's exciting end sweeps and reverses brought the crowds to their feet, screaming in delight as the little locomotive made shambles out of enemy defenses.

Who can ever forget the electrifying English-to-Waller air combination which kept college scouts shaking their heads in amazement. English personally slaughtered Burlington with three "bombs," one a 52-yarder to Waller. His pinpoint passing clicked for 12 TD's during the season.

When the going became rough, fullback Rick Pennell drew the ball-toting assignment and usually left a trail of floundering defensive opponents in his wake as he rambled through. Rick also did kick-offs for the Demons.

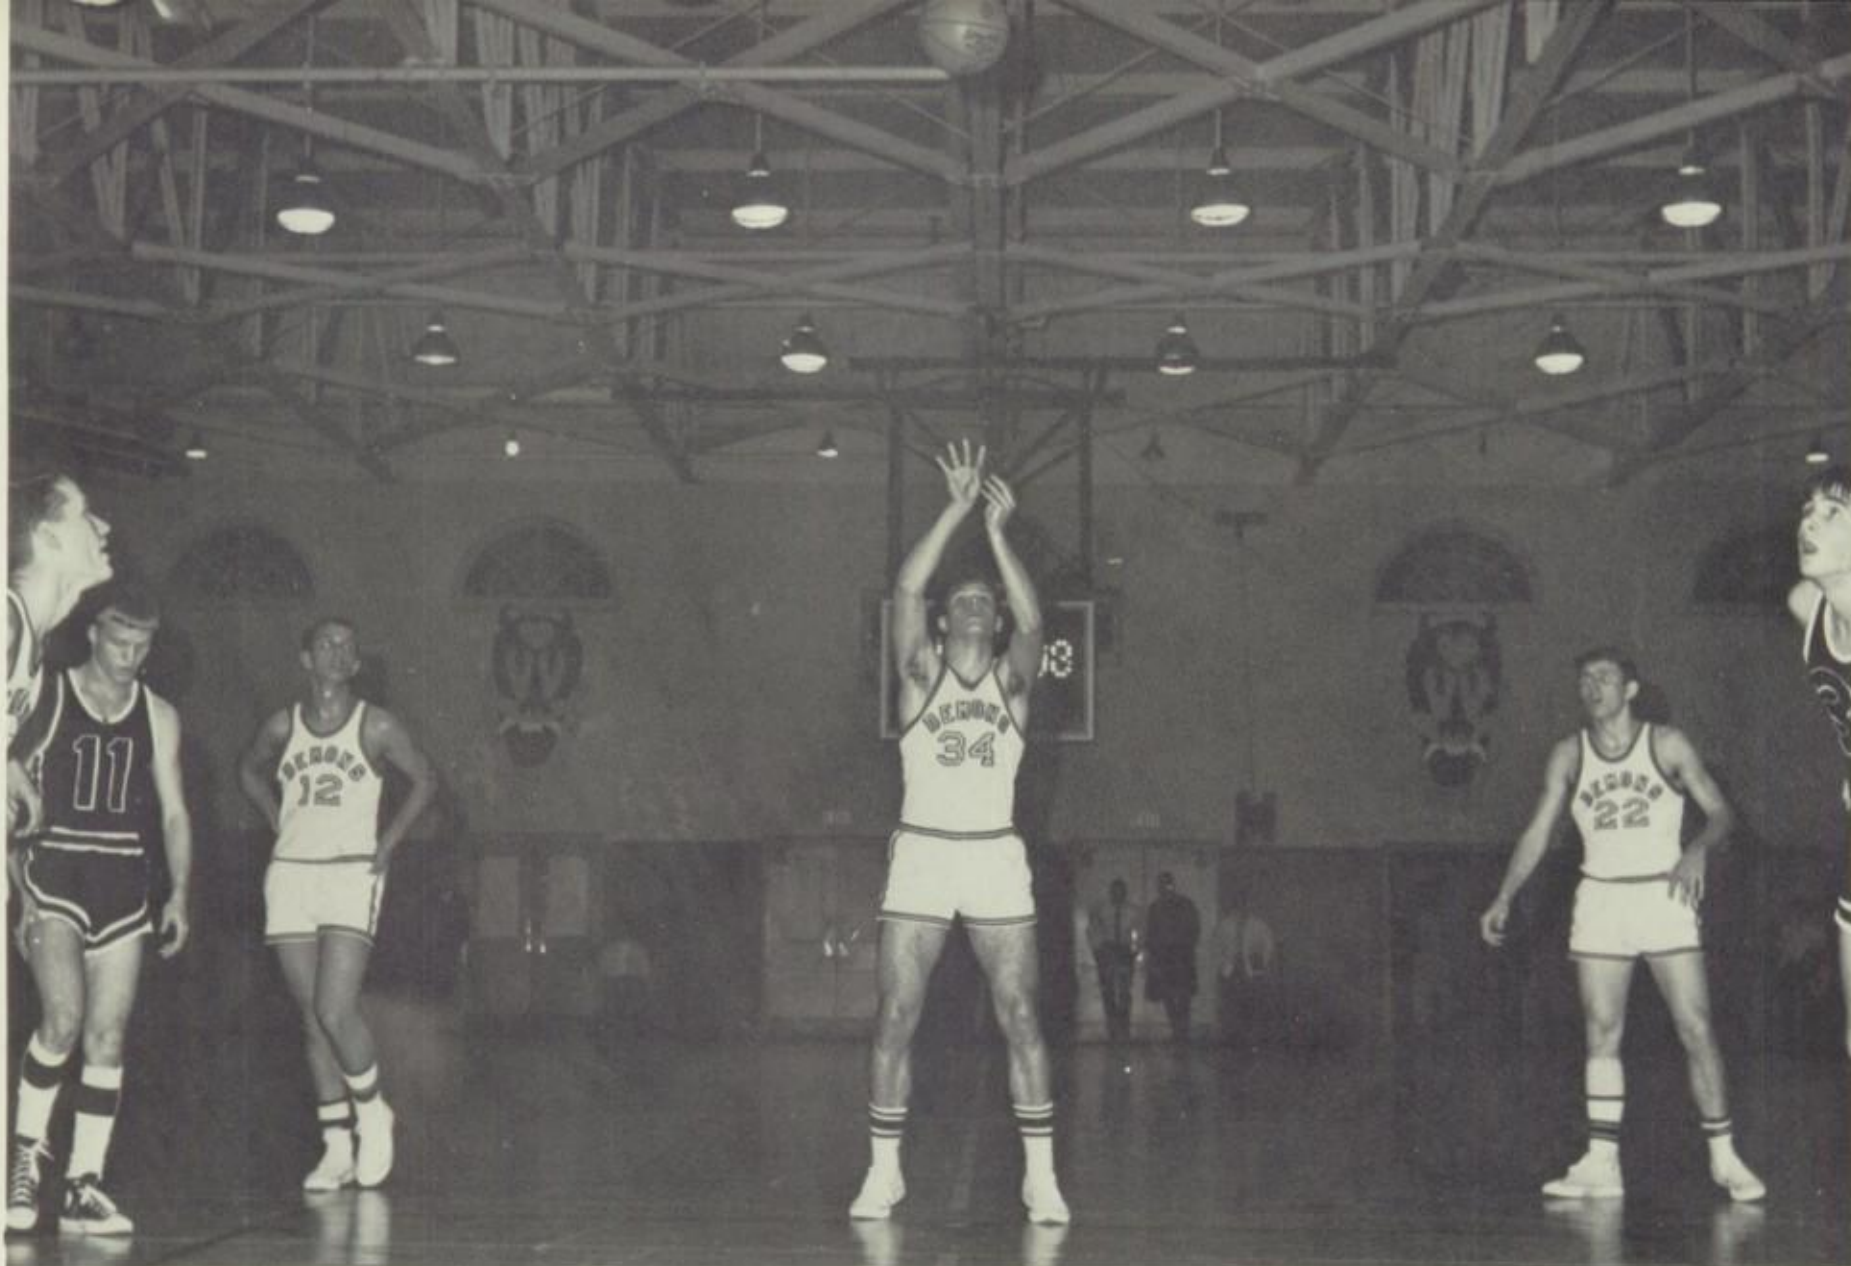

Alternating from "T" to single-wing, blocking back Mackie Reavis often opened the path enabling ball carriers to run for long gains. His key blocking helped make our running game the dangerous threat that it was.

Bobby Russell, Jimmy Waller, Tom English, and Frank Murphy were selected for the All-Conference team.

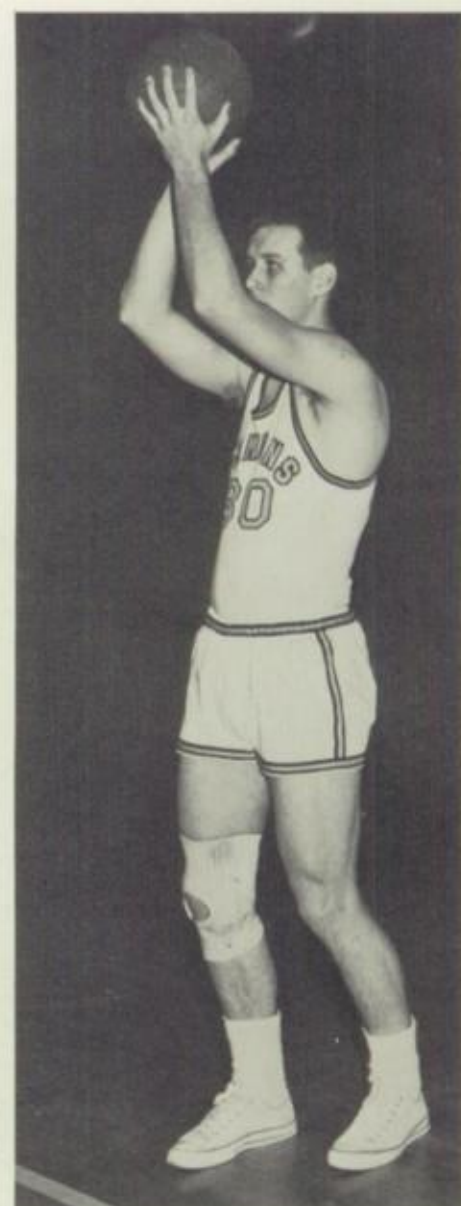

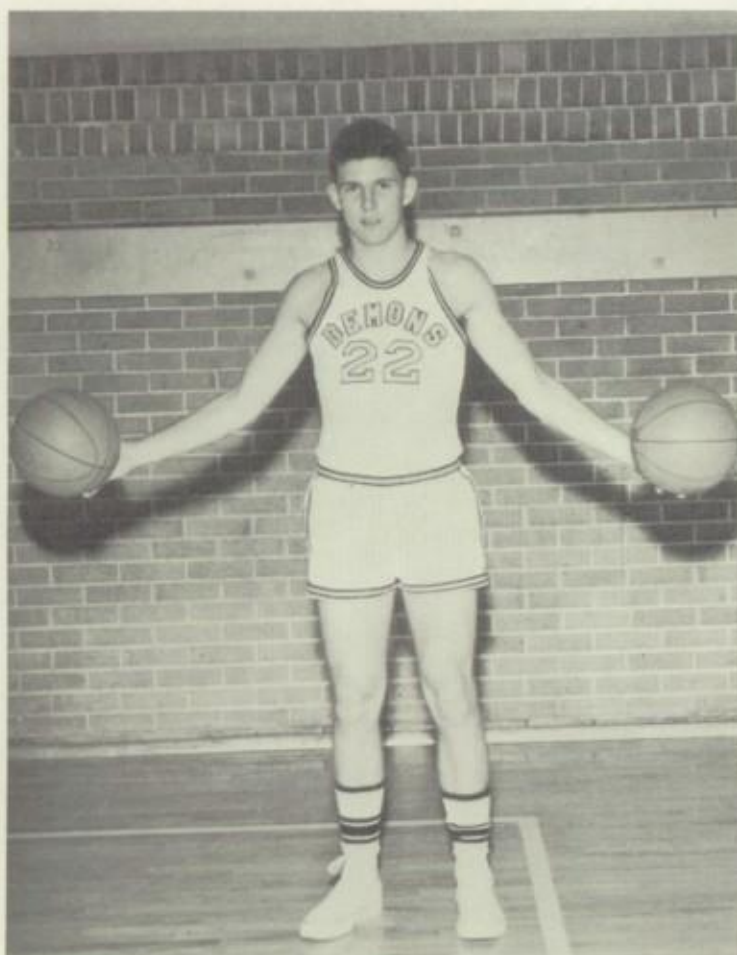

Coaches Taylor, Smith, Wilson, Brown, and Kelly smile as they recall the team's fine work.

Junior Steve Swearingen reaches for the rafters as he prepares to flip in a shot.

Even before the groans, grunts and bone-jarring crunches of football fall silent, the Reynold's gym comes alive to the sounds of basketball. As this has been the traditional custom for many years, happily 1965 proved to be no exception.

Sparked by co-captain and playmaker Jim Gilliam, the Demons provided many exciting thrills during the season. Forward Jim Waller made the transition from catching footballs to grabbing basketballs look easy, backing up Gilliam's 20 point scoring average and becoming the team's leading rebounder.

Clever backcourt ball handling by seniors Rick Hemrick and Cliff Pearce, aided by key buckets by Frank Macy, helped keep opposing defenses honest. Ralph Grubbs and Tom English shared duties at center and proved that they too, could shoot with deadly accuracy.

Nearly always playing against taller foes, the Demons were fighting all the way. Some of the out-standing games included clipping Salisbury on a last-second goal by Gilliam, bombing East and West Forsyth, clobbering Lexington 82-65, and swamp-ing High Point 60-42.

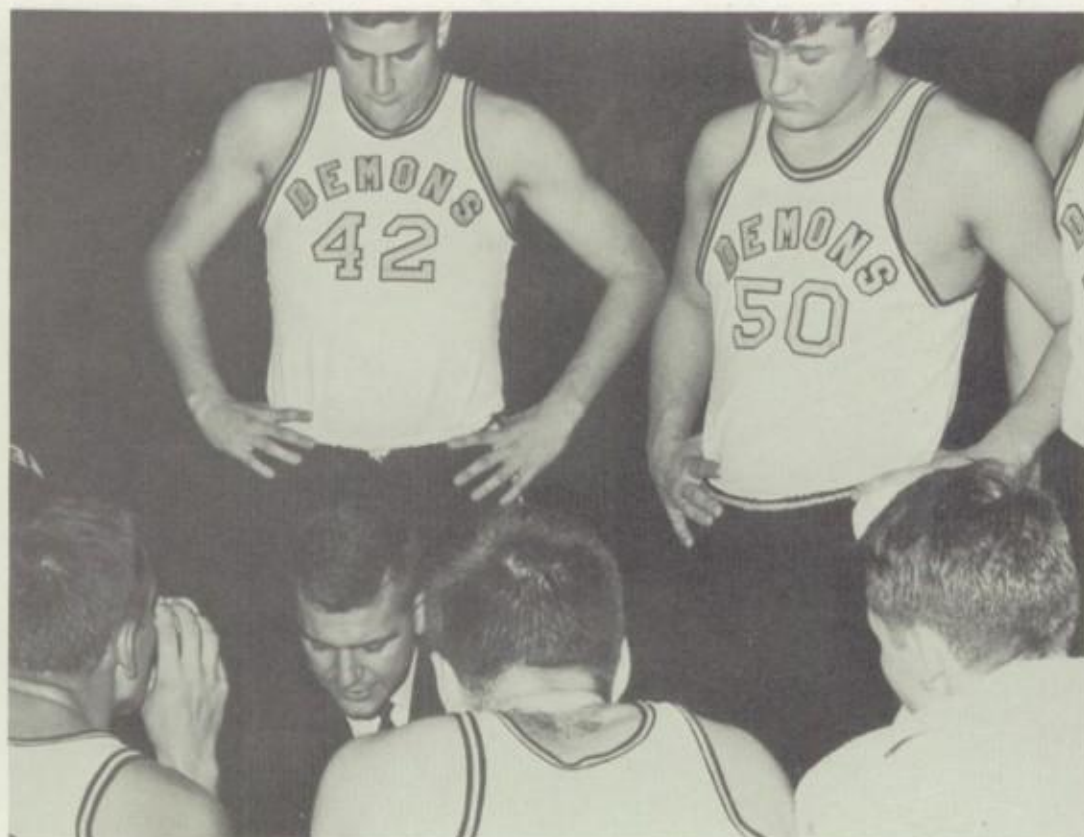

Swearingen and Waller fight for possession of a rebound as North Forsyth's Denny Key (45) looks on.

Fighting All The Way, Demons Provide Fans With Excitement

Track Team Practices For Best Performance In Competition

Early in the spring Coach Webster and his group of dedicated athletes prepare for another successful RJR track season. Several weeks of training are necessary to prepare for the difficult meet schedule which begins in March.

After four weeks of conference competition, RJR played host for the All-Forsyth Meet. Later, the track team traveled to Durham for the annual Duke-Durham Relays. Reynolds continued its excellent performance in the conference meet held at home this year. Qualification for the state meet was determined by the sectional meet held at Wake Forest College.

Although Reynolds has lost strength in the field events, our runners have made vast improvement over last year's performances. Sophomores and transfer students added strength to the outstanding RJR squad.

This year's Cross Country team was Reynolds' most promising in many years. Six lettermen returned from last year's squad.

Coach Bill Webster expanded the Demons' schedule considerably. Included were a meet against Durham, the first time the two teams had met in regular competition, and an unofficial meet with the Wake Forest Freshmen.

Reynolds Harriers were undefeated in regular season competition, beating such teams as Myers Park and Durham. As a climax to the season's competition, Reynolds defeated four area teams to win the Sectional Meet.

In Competition against twelve teams from two states at the Wake Forest Invitational Meet, Reynolds finished fourth in both the varsity and junior varsity divisions. At the State Championship Meet in Chapel Hill, the Demons finished fifth among twenty-two teams.

Spring Spells 'Baseball' For Many Athletes

America's national game certainly is not lacking from Reynolds' long list of athletic teams. Indeed, as the first rays of March sun peep through cloudy skies, RJR baseball players are already shaking dust from their spikes and trying on last year's caps.

For several weeks, this year under the watchful eye of Coach Brown, the team practiced the arts of an intricate game: base thievery, teaching curve balls to behave, or handling 90-mile-an-hour line drives at third base. Batting was not neglected, either, for numerous baseballs were blasted into the creek each spring afternoon.

Returning for another season of runing the base paths were nearly a dozen lettermen and top-notch players. Led by long-ball slamming Jim Gilliam at shortstop, strong-armed and ever-dangerous outfielder Frank Murphy and Tom English, sure-catch Stan Peoples behind the plate, and fast-baller Ralph Grubbs on the mound, Demons fans expected plenty of action.

Season competition was furnished by conference teams, and home games were played at Hanes Park on the Wiley field.

Sig Johnsen demonstrates a mighty cut that nearly clipped the onlookers.

We Salute The Junior Varsity Teams And Cheerleaders

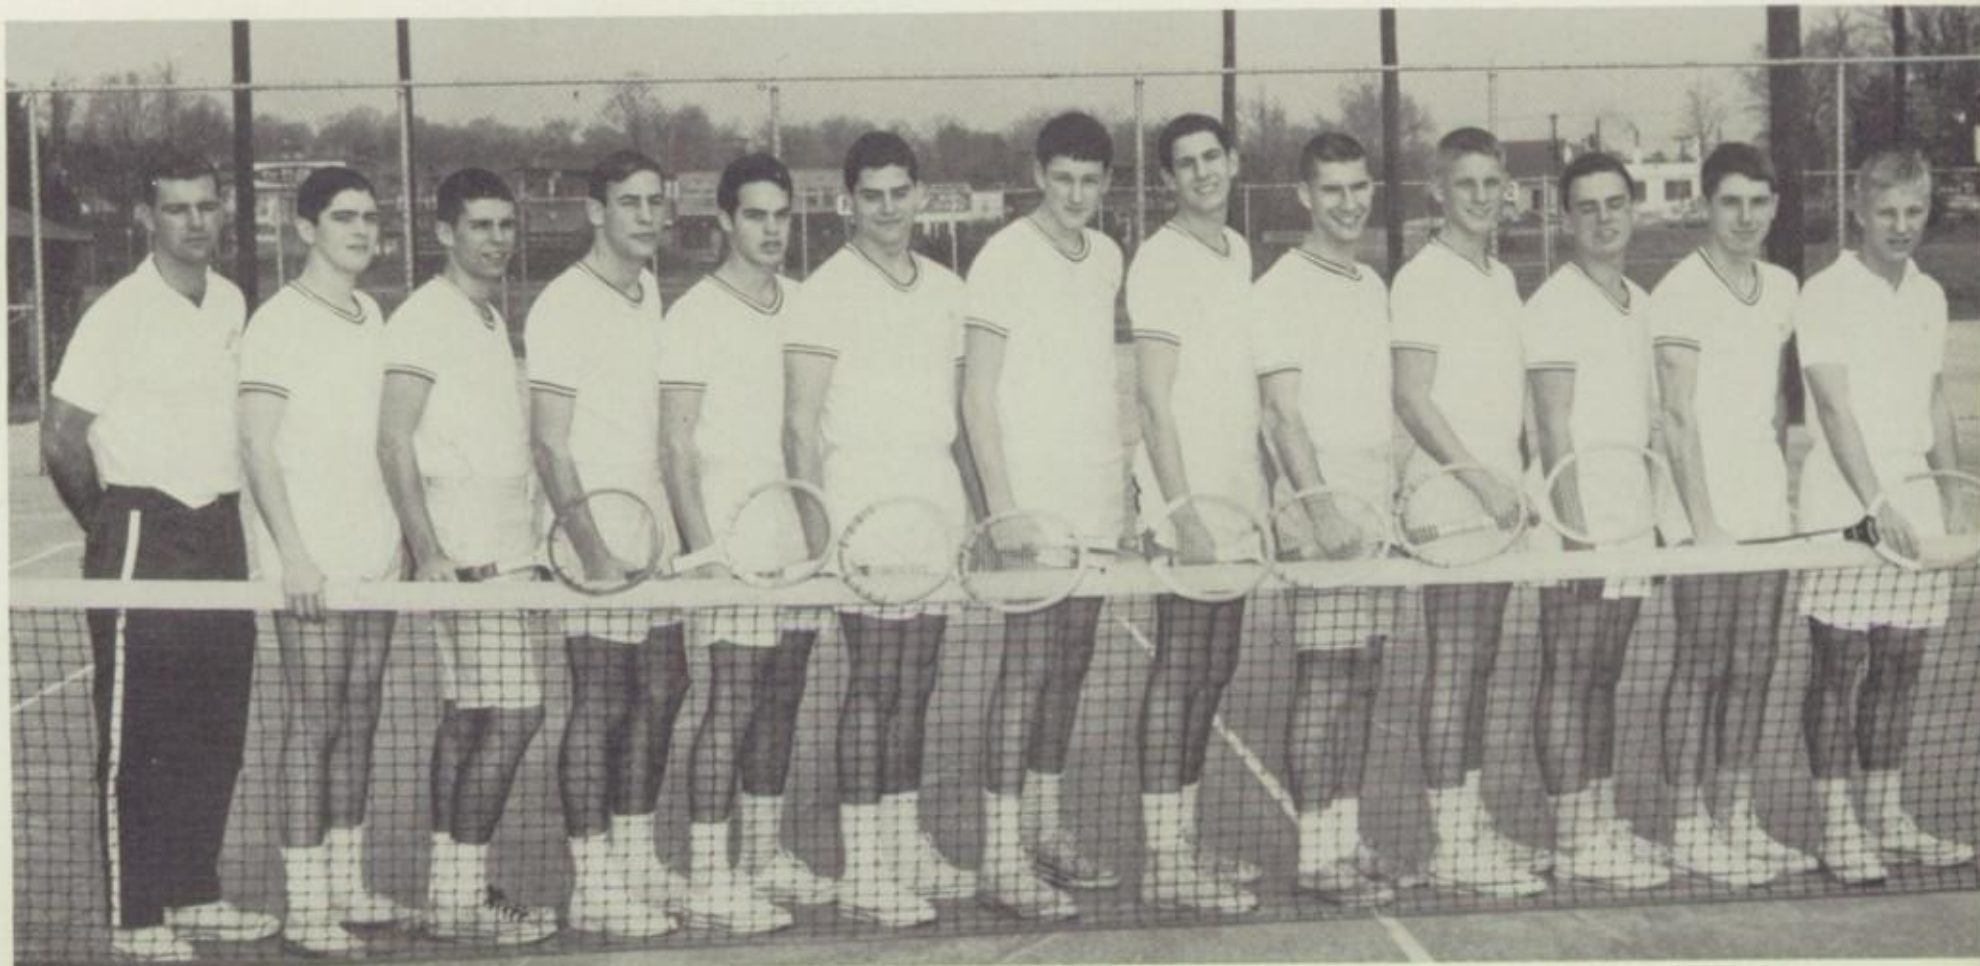

Deep appreciation is deserved by the junior varsity teams and cheerleaders, for these students have done an outstanding job of representing the entire student body.

In competition the players have not only turned out a fine record, but they have also gained valuable experience which will more fully prepare them for varsity athletics.

Junior varsity cheerleaders add pep to their teams' games and then stay on to bring school spirit to the varsity games which follow.

Tennis Players Begin Practice In Spring

At last it's springtime again, and Hanes Park buzzes with activity as Coach Whitley's tennis team swings into action. Varsity competition is rough, as the boys do battle against Elkin, Lexington, Grimsley, and other conference opponents. Reynolds was well represented during the 1965 season by top-notch players Cliff Pearce, Tony Thompson, Pete Yount, and Clark Wilcox.

Golf Team Strives For Birdies

Top golfers with new bursts of energy and enthusiasm find themselves in early spring anxious to tee off in a successful season. The selection of the team and matches add new zest to already mounting spirits, and every skill and tee off is studied in spirited discussions on the golf course and in the halls.

What Helps To Make A Hard-Working Team?

Successful games require more than a good varsity. Halftimes are sometimes more memorable than the game itself. Pep rallies at school and a good crowd at the game are necessary parts of spirit. Coaches, sponsors, cheerleaders, teachers, and majorettes encourage the boys to practice harder. Pep Board members arouse student interest and aid in distributing programs. Only with all this backing does Reynolds produce hard-working teams.

Hard-working Athletes Comprise Monogram Club

Membership in the Reynolds Monogram Club is reserved to those boys who have earned the right to wear the Reynolds "R". The letter signifies not only outstanding athletic ability in one of the varsity sports, but also stands for pride, service, effort, and time to Reynolds High School. Presentation of a letter in baseball, basketball, cross-country, tennis, football, swimming, wrestling, golf, or track is decided by coaches who deem the boys worthy of the award.

Much time, sweat, and pain often goes into the competition for an athletic letter. During football, practices are long and bruising, and the season lasts over three months. Cross-country runners usually chalk up over 250 miles of hard running during a season. It is not unusual for swimming team members to log over 12 hours of swimming during a single weekend.

To be a member of the Monogram Club is to belong to the school's largest service organization. The boys serve as ushers, attendants, and also work in the snack bar during basketball season. The behavior of these lettermen has greatly helped the high standing of Reynolds High.

Swimmers Strive For Speed And Form

The individual efforts of members on the team boost Reynolds' score in meets.

Now in its third year, the Reynolds swimming team has shown steady improvement. Most of the members of last year's team, which finished second in the conference, returned this year under the direction of new head coach, Mr. Ronald Goins.

David Pfefferkorn and Doug Mock were elected team co-captains as the season began. Practice was held four days a week at the YWCA.

We are especially proud of our free style relay team which placed in the state finals last year and is expected to keep up the good work. The team consists of Jim Reynolds, David Pfefferkorn, L. A. Mayo and Bob Sheppard. There are other outstanding swimmers in the senior class, plus some very able juniors and sophomores to give promise for the years to come.

Jeff Smith has been a fine diver for our team and has been a consistent first place winner. We believe he ranks among the finest in the state.

All in all, we have had a successful season with a good share of wins.

On your mark, get set, GO!

Girls' Varsity Team Competes With Other Schools

During the winter in the midst of exams, term papers, and such, the girls' varsity basketball players were out on the hard-wood gym floor exerting every effort. With not many wins to put on the records, the girls persisted, even after a few tears of blood and sweat. The girls were shorter than almost all of the others teams, but they retained an undaunted attitude and practiced consistently to fulfill the game schedule. Mrs. Nichols pushed the girls to work the right plays (though there were only a few) and the team worked well most of the time, lost some of the time, and had fun all of the time.

Girls' Tennis Team Provides Outdoor Activity

Tennis is a sport unlike all others. It is one of the most strenuous sports, and our girls were out on the courts this spring playing the game very diligently. It does take a few hours to learn how to hit that two and a half inch sphere (about a thousand hours or so), and the girls spent much time perfecting this maneuver. There is no better satisfaction and fun than hitting a beautiful forehand or a well-placed serve or a driving backhand. Together with learning these skills, the girls were anxious to get good suntans.

Students practice forearm and backhand returns.

Learning how to control and handle any situation that might arise in any team sport is only one of the privileges of the Officials' Club. This club leads the girls' intramural program by supplying qualified officials for each game. Led by Janet Rawlings, the Official's Club learns the rules of the games and the techniques of officiating, and practices them. This club adds to the total G.A.A. program by promoting better games and more exciting tournaments.

Gym Leaders Aid Teachers In Presenting Classes

Assisting the physical education teachers in leading classes is the job of the gym leaders, and they perform it well. Much of the smoothness of gym classes is due to the presence of these girls. At the first of every period, a gym leader is responsible for issuing and collecting equipment. Their other duties range from checking showers and locker rooms, demonstrating skills and playing tactics to students, and running errands, to the secretarial jobs of recording and typing. Each girl who serves as a gym leader donates a study hall through service to the school.

Mrs. Nichols outlines plans for the next day's lessons.

Speedball Trophy Is Result Of Determination And Practice

Hard work, determination, and practice went into the making of a champion varsity speedball team. Competing against skillful opponents, the girls showed their enthusiasm, sportsmanship, and spirit of teamwork by defeating all conference rivals. Adding distinction to our display case, this trophy stands as a symbol of our champions.

Sports-Minded Girls Enjoy GAA Fellowship

"A sport for every girl; a girl for every sport," is the motto of the Girls' Athletic Association, and throughout the year, it lives up to this by offering a variety of intramural and recreational activities. Not all their spare time is spent on the playing field, however, as many members can testify. They also have skating parties, go swimming, collect for the March of Dimes, paint benches, and display their culinary talents for bake sales. One hundred points obtained by after-school participation on teams, leadership, and scholarship are the membership requirements of the G.A.A.

When the gruff lion of windy March roars around the Reynolds High gymnasium, he finds many girls involved in interscholastic volleyball, one of the newest additions to the girls' sports program. Offering many opportunities for participation, sociability, fun, and competition, volleyball is a favorite among any number of girls. These girls hope that when the gentle lamb of fading March is led away, she will see the volleyball team well on its way to Reynolds' second Winston-Salem/Forsyth County championship.

Softball Team Prepares To Meet Conference Rivals

As the warming winds of spring thaw the fields around Reynolds, many girls take out bats, balls, gloves, and caps to begin spring practice for varsity softball. Giving the best of their effort and skill, these girls practice tirelessly to prepare themselves to meet their conference rivals. Through teamwork, practice, and enthusiasm the team hopes to represent well the Reynolds spirit in its games with North, East, West, Gray, Griffith, and Children's Home.

Children's Home Football And Basketball Teams Are Comprised Of Small But Dedicated Groups

"Fighting Methodists" is what the blue banner on the goal post said: A better adjective would be hard to find to describe Coach Mike Gibson's football and basketball teams. Though small in number and stature, Coach Gibson's boys have the desire to play ball well, and to win. The Methodists finished their season with a 3-5-1 record.

Basketball was upon these boys almost before they had finished playing football. Coach Gibson commented that his boys were still using a fore-arm lift on their opponents! Though without the manpower of their foes, the "Fighting Methodists" are well known in the North Piedmont Conference for their hard-nosed playing. Even though in a slump, the boys played their hearts out for the Home.

Spring sports at the Home include track and baseball for the boys, and volleyball and softball for the girls. Some intramural tennis teams are always organized for both boys and girls.

All the teams are grateful to the cheerleaders for their support. The "rah-rah" girls are Janie Janes, Vickie Dennis, Doris Payne, Sheila Harmon (chief), Barbara Whitt, and Virginia McKnight.

Members of the football team elected Doug Baity Most Valuable Player.

Girls' Basketball Team Play Their Best For Children's Home

Though girls' basketball is supposedly on the decline in Forsyth County, Children's Home always manages to have a team. The girls practice every day from 4:30 to 5:30 during the season. Mrs. Floynell Garrison is prouder of the team spirit this year than any number of wins could make her. Mrs. Garrison and her team travel with the boys' team to play with other teams in the North Piedmont Conference. During the season the girls play North, East, and West Rowan; Davie County; Mooresville; Troutman; and Monroe.

Class Poem

The curtain rose majestic'ly, and there they stood before us—
Three swift years of youth and life, who boldly sang in chorus:
"If you will only come with us in spirit of good measure,
We shall give you memories which you will always treasure."

The play began with eloquence, for actors—there were many.
The stage was filled with voices strong, and forceful action plenty.
The leads were played by just a few, though each one had his part.
And what would some day end in hope was giv'n a goodly start.

The second act did soon begin, the setting as before.
But there was much more drama now, of purpose there was more.
The pageant moved at quickened pace; the music was much stronger;
Tones that once were ringing loud grew quieter and longer.

The final curtain slowly rose, but in a halting manner.
The players gathered solemnly beneath a single banner.
They held it high for all to read, as if a battle they were winning:
"Although our play has ended now, 'tis only the beginning."

History

*Into my heart's treasury
I slipped a coin
That time cannot take
Nor a thief purloin—
Oh, better than the minting of a gold-crowned king
Is the safe-kept memory of a lovely thing.*

"The Coin" by Sara Teasdale

SOPHOMORE YEAR

The 600 members of the senior class of 1965 assembled for the first time in the Reynolds High School auditorium on August 31, 1962. We were surrounded by new acquaintances and old friends, both teachers and students. Our new principal, Mr. John Tandy, spoke to us about the responsibilities and opportunities we would have at Reynolds. Since many of our parents and older brothers and sisters had attended Reynolds, most of us were fully aware of her traditions before we entered the auditorium. From our first day we knew the challenge before us, and we resolved that our years at Reynolds would be marked by hard work and achievement.

We were the largest group of sophomores ever to enter the portals of R. J. R., and we wasted no time in showing our upperclassmen that we were also the brightest and best. Of course, we were soon put in our proper places by constant reminders that sophomores are merely "wise fools."

As we became accustomed to Reynolds, we began to realize that high school was definitely not like junior high. We were disappointed when we found out that desks were not supposed to be thrown out of windows and that we actually had to open our books occasionally, if we expected to make good grades. At first, standing when we wanted to speak in English class was awkward; however, it soon became habit with most of us, as did many of the other practices at Reynolds.

Before we were fully adjusted to our new school, football season began with our first pep rally. None of us will soon forget this chapel at which the cheerleaders first taught the student body the new cheer. "Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors." What a thrill it was to be a part of all the wonderful school spirit that is a tradition at our school!

We sophomores were not content, however, to be mere spectators at Reynolds. Many of us participated during the games as players, managers, Dancing Boots, or band members.

All too soon, our first exams were upon us, and if we had not studied during the first few months of school, we tried to cram quickly a lot of knowledge into our heads. Between exams, those of us who could legally drive piled our cars full of friends and headed to the Triangle or to Staley's for a quick lunch. The light snowfall which began before our last exam reminded us that Christmas vacation was near. We left school that afternoon with one thought, "What's done cannot be undone!"

After enjoying the Christmas vacation, we returned to school and studies. Our extracurricular activities were centered on the winter sports—basketball, swimming, and wrestling. Then came the February slump during which we could not bear the thought of learning one more fact, or of trudging to the gym through that long, damp tunnel.

The approach of spring brightened everyone's spirits and brought with it two very exciting events: the annual Black and Gold Campaign and the Key Club Follies. We sophomores did not have to be told how important and competitive the annual

Black and Gold ticket sale is. Each of us sold tickets with the enthusiasm and vigor, which typified our class.

The Key Club Follies theme, "The Roaring Twenties," could not have been a more perfect one to give the many hams among us a chance to show the student body what real talent is. Our participation in the follies was a memorable experience, for we had so much fun at rehearsals that none of us minded "finessing the homework."

In the late spring the annual elections of the Student Council and of the House of Representatives provided the first opportunity for us to participate in Reynolds's unique student government. Also in the spring of our Sophomore year, many of us applied for acceptance to the new Governor's School. After careful screenings and many auditions, almost twenty persons from our class were selected.

As our first year at Reynolds came to a close, we were no longer the nervous, insecure students that we had been. We had shown our upperclassmen that we were capable of leadership, and we knew that we would return to Reynolds next fall as Juniors prepared to carry on the traditions and high ideals that had made our alma mater the outstanding school that it is.

JUNIOR YEAR

As Juniors we assumed the important role of upperclassmen. This was to be our year to scowl at Sophomores and to rub shoulders with Seniors. We found many changes in our Junior year. The renovation of our auditorium caused an overcrowded orientation day at the gym. Of course, this change was worth the delay: comfortable seating made dozing in chapel much more enjoyable.

On the first regular day of classes we were shocked by another change. We sat in second period eagerly awaiting our beloved break, which never came. It had been executed by the hatchet of state school regulations. During our Junior year there were many exciting events. Our football players found themselves stalking a blackbird from Rocky Mount. Unfortunately, the blackbird again escaped the hunter, putting our team in second place. The basketball team had a booming season with people crowding into the gym to watch the games. The Junior Class led school spirit as the Demons became state finalists. Our wrestling team, which had had only one year's experience, won many matches and placed several boys in the state finals.

It was now time for us to begin creating a memorable Junior-Senior. With the theme "Scheherazade" in mind, we worked day and night making a dome for the Taj Mahal and, strangely enough, an indoor pool. When the big night finally came, we enjoyed sitting totally exhausted as the Seniors danced to the music of Chester Mayfield. It was a wonderful evening, which perfectly climaxed the months of preparation.

In the midst of our planning for the dance, two catastrophes occurred. Our exams came after Christmas, a fact which hampered grades instead of Christmas spirit. In the spring we encountered our first College Boards. We came out of the test rooms with our minds full of stories about run-over ducks and steel manufacturing.

In the spring Student Council elections again held everyone's attention. Many ideas obtained at the State Student Council Convention, held at Reynolds in the fall, were put into use. Finally, the nominating committee decided to ask the candidates to speak before the student body.

Our band and Dancing Boots were honored by being invited to the International Lions' Club Convention Parade in Toronto, Canada. After much planning, exhausting practices up and down Hawthorne Road, and frustrating packing problems, the two groups climbed into six buses and set out for Canada. The week spent there showed that the band and Boots were well qualified to represent Reynolds as they ranked high in the international competition.

SENIOR YEAR

At last we were that honored and respected group—Seniors. Now we could leave the auditorium first, relax as the Juniors struggled over the Junior-Senior, and be the first to receive those long-awaited annuals. But with our Senior privileges there also came responsibilities. Pressing us were long hours of College Boards, hard days of learning memory lines for Senior English, and months of anxious waiting for a letter of acceptance from the college of our choice.

As Seniors, we shared many exciting moments. In the fall our football team, led by the enthusiastic Seniors, charged on to one victory after another, reaching the peak of our three years—the state championship. Not only the players themselves, but also the entire student body—the Pep Board with its weekly spectaculars, the cheerleaders, the majorettes, the band, the Dancing Boots, and every cheering student—won the trophy. Again we attended the exciting basketball games in the winter. In the fall we were introduced to our new, giant-sized hall passes, and we knew that the days of fooling the hall monitors were gone forever. The Board of Education inspected our school for renovation, and the next morning the headline was "Mr. Tandy on the Roof." But we proved once more that "It ain't the building, it's the pusionell."

As the year passed, we soon became involved with the many activities of the Senior Class. In long, tedious meetings after school the hard-working Senior Executive Committee managed the class business. We elected officers, superlatives, and a mascot; and we dedicated the annual to our assistant principal, Mr. Deaton. Many of us were inducted into the National Honor Society, the Masque and Gavel, the French National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll. We spent many hours after school practicing for the drama and chorus productions, and many days working on the annual Key Club and Senior Service Club projects. On College Day we rushed to the gym during our study halls to talk to representatives from various schools. The Presidential election was also in full swing, as we displayed our campaign stickers, gave speeches in history classes, and had a school-wide straw ballot. At the close of the year we were busy studying for exams, preparing for graduation, and thinking about the coming summer.

But most of all, our thoughts were turned to the future—to college and to a career. We realize that our years at Reynolds have enriched our lives and that our days at Reynolds have given wonderful memories of happy times, hard work, and friendships. Our futures are to be based upon all that we have known and have been taught in these past years. We may have been at the top in our Senior year, but how appropriate that our graduation be called "Commencement"—for the end of our days at Reynolds mark the beginning of a new life for each of us.

Johnny,

Johnny,

I have really enjoyed getting to know you last summer this year. You're a real in Canada and sweet boy with a great personality! I wish you the best of luck in all that you do. Good luck next year at EC.

Love ya!
Rosebud

Remember,
Judy Baker

John,
Despite orchestra and the dreary green room it has been a good year. I remember our first day here at Reynolds. We were both transfers a year ago January. I remember walking down the steps on the way into the band room. About two minutes later you entered. You looked as composed as I get through my first few weeks in this huge school. Believe me that helped me immensely. I need not have shaken-up. Do stay with you luck, for you are capable of much. Do stay as wonderful and friendly as you are and all will. A good friend
Linda Lindsey

P.S. Johnny, you are a champion!!
I'm shocked at you!!!

Johnny,
It's been great being in algebra. Mr. Williams sure is a scream. On fact anytime I think of him I do scream. I wish we were in more classes together.

Good luck in the future and life. I hope that you have the best that you can offer. Best of luck you in school.

I hope we will both pass algebra after all. If I pass it will be the biggest wonder of the world.

Be good,
Danni Jordin

Dear Johnny,

I've only known you for a part of the time at Reynolds, but you can bet that I'm glad I have. I'll never forget that trip to Canada, Homecoming '64, the football games, and all the other great times we had. You've spent this year becoming a real leader in the school. You've gained the admiration of many people through all your accomplishments. I want you to know that I wish you the very best of everything in the years to come.

Love ya'

Betty Benton

Hi Johnny
I took my forever but here we are at graduation! It's been a great year! Well winning the State trophy, I am yelling knowledge silly. Have fun at P.C. next year. Gladly into Raleigh, I hope we a visit at home! I hope you & I don't work too hard -
Love ya'
Betty Benton

Johnny,

It's been fun being in homeroom with you this year. I'm sure neither one of us will forget those parades we marched in this year - especially the armed forces one when we about passed out in those hot uniforms. Best of luck next year and in the future!

Love ya,
Ann Justice

Johnny (and I could call you nasty names like you've done to me all year !!!),

It's been...well...different knowing you this year (½ half of the one before). Different, but wonderful! It's nice to know somebody whose a little different from all the other stereotype forms (Anyway I hope HE threw away the mold after he made you [only a little dig!]) — Well, you can be assured (or maybe a little (?) sorrow sorry!) that I won't hold all the cruel things you've done to me against you —

Best of luck, Johnny, to a marvelous person — I'd write down all your friendship has meant to me this year, but you'd prob'ly take it wrong — Be good and God bless everything you do —

All my love,
Linda Edwards

P.S. Congratulations on the scholarship to E.C.!

Johnny,

It has been great having you in the band this year — it certainly added to the base section a lot!! Don't hate Mr. Epler too much for making you play in the orchestra.

Best of luck at E.C.C. next year, and come see me if you ever are in Greensboro, or at Pfiffer.

Love ya,
Carol Haase

Johnny,

It has been great getting to know you this year in English. We'll always remember Miss Rhodes, what a nut she is. Best of Luck at Eastern Carolina next year. Have a great summer, I hope to see you too!

Remember,

Jane Mashkera
